Solons Pressing To Clean Up Fiscal Items

Bookkeeping Year To End Saturday For U.S. Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress tried to clean up a number of fiscal year-end items today after voting to raise the national debt ceiling and providing funds to run the government next month.

Leaders said they hoped all necessary business for fiscal 1962, which ends Saturday at midnight, could be finished by late today. But a Saturday session may be needed, they said.

The jam occurs each June but this year's has involved more legislation than usual.

Two of the major items were cleared for President Kennedy Thursday.

The Senate sent to him a bill raising the debt limit to a record high of $308 billion for most of fiscal 1963 after beating back Republican efforts to trim it to $306 billion.

Both branches rushed through an emergency resolution permitting all government agencies to continue spending generally at current rates through July. This was necessary because not a single regular money bill for the new year has been passed by both branches and cleared through conference.

This almost unprecedented situation has resulted from a deadlock on protocol between the two appropriations committees—such things as whether a senator or House member shall preside at conferences.

Also sent to the President was a bill extending for another year the suspension of duties on scrap metal imports.

The President, meanwhile, signed into law a bill passed Wednesday by Congress to extend a series of Korean War taxes but to eliminate taxes on train and bus tickets and slice those on air fares to 5 per cent. The taxes which continue and bring in about $4.2 billion a year would have expired at the end of the fiscal year had legislation not been completed.

The conferees on the bill to extend the Export Control Act will have another go at an agreement during the day following a 44-33 Senate rejection of their handiwork Thursday night.

Thursday the conferees dropped all Senate and House amendments on the legislation and decided on a simple one-year extension. But some senators complained loudly at elimination of (Continued on Page 2)

Florida Medic Selected as AMA Chieftain

CHICAGO (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Association is Dr. Edward R. Annis, a Democrat who for a year has been the AMA's chief spokesman in its fight to defeat President Kennedy's medical care program for the aged.

The AMA's House of Delegates named the 49-year-old Florida surgeon to head the membership of 200,000 doctors, replacing Dr. George M. Fister of Utah next June.

But the delegates declined to adopt a resolution which called for a boycott by doctors of the Medicare program should it become law. Such a stand has been taken by doctors in New Jersey, Louisiana, and Circleville, Ohio.

The House of Delegates adopted a report declaring "King-Anderson type of legislation" would "lead to deterioration in the quality of medical care," and reminding doctors of the AMA principles of ethics. It urged doctors to work for better care of the aged through the Kerr-Mills law in which the federal government cooperates with states in meeting medical expenses.

Dr. Fister, commenting on the action, said: "We will take care of patients in our own manner and all who need care will receive it. If the bill passes, it still leaves freedom for the physician to practice under, or for the patient to consult under provisions of the law."

Fugitive Spy in Hospital; Israel Studies U.S. Demand

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Fugitive Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen was under medical supervision in a prison hospital today while Israeli authorities studied a U.S. request for his return to New York to begin serving a life term.

The ailing, 62-year-old Soblen, seized here less than 60 hours after he jumped $100,000 bail in New York, was taken to the hospital in Ramleh Prison when he complained he did not feel well. A doctor testified at his trial last June that Soblen was incurably ill with leukemia — cancer of the blood — and then had 12 months to live.

A spokesman for Israel's justice ministry indicated his government would be sympathetic toward Washington's demand for Soblen's return. He said Israel does not want to become a refuge

Special Inmate Check Ordered

Psychiatrists To Eye Questionable Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle directed today that three-member psychiatric teams examine any questionable inmates, especially youthful potential sex-offenders, before release from Ohio's industrial schools.

His directive, issued to the Department of Mental Hygiene & Correction during the governor's Cabinet meeting, was an aftermath of the sex-slayings of two young Mansfield girls last week by Jerrell Ray Howell, 18, who was released by the Boys Industrial School last February.

DiSalle said at least one member and preferably two on the psychiatric teams should be employed from private practice on a fee basis to make the final determination of release in questionable cases.

Because of extreme overcrowding in both the boys and girls industrial schools, the governor said, it may be necessary to set up a ward in some other state institution to take care of inmates who cannot be handled in the schools and who cannot be released without further treatment.

The governor, who is scheduled to leave for the national conference of governors at Hershey, Pa., today, announced there will be no Cabinet meetings either July 6 or July 13. This was an indication he plans a brief vacation after the governor's conference, but he did not say so specifically.

DiSalle also announced the reappointment of J. Karl Hirtzinger of Springfield, as a trustee of the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home for a five-year term. He is a retired school principal.

Auto Traffic Toll Climbs During May

CHICAGO (AP)—Deaths in automobile traffic rose in May, the National Safety Council reported Thursday, but the increase matched the rise in travel volume.

Deaths totaled 3,160, a 1 per cent increase over the 3,130 in May 1961. May was the seventh month in a row to show a rise or no change from the corresponding month a year earlier.

For the first five months of 1962 there were 14,520 traffic deaths, up 5 per cent from 13,830 in the comparable months of last year.

Although deaths increased 5 per cent, the amount of travel rose by an identical percentage. The resulting death rate for the period was 4.8 fatalities for each 100 million miles traveled. This was unchanged from the rate at the end of May 1961.

for persons convicted abroad.

The United States and Israel do not have an extradition treaty, but informants here said Israel could hand Soblen over anyhow. They reasoned that Soblen was convicted of a political crime, rather than a common criminal offense, and that such crimes as espionage are not within normal extradition treaty terms.

Soblen, former supervising psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N.Y., had been scheduled to show up in New York federal court Thursday to begin the life sentence for 20 years of spying. The U.S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case, and Soblen then fled the country.

A U.S. District judge in New York ordered the $100,000 bail forfeited when Soblen failed to appear. Soblen's wife, a psychiatrist whose professional name is Dr. Dina Soblen, had posted $40,000 and the remaining $60,000, in U.S. government bonds, was put up by Helen Buttenweiser, a lawyer and niece of former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Buttenweiser, a banker's wife, said she put up the money because of her interest in changing bail systems. She said present systems benefit either the rich or criminal able to raise bond.

Informed sources said Soblen made his trip to Israel on a Canadian passport issued to his brother, Bruce — or Beras — Soblen, who is dead. Arrested in a tourist hotel at noon Thursday, he was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel.

It was learned that Soblen financed his flight with a $1,600 investment he withdrew from the Circle Manhattan Medical Group, an association of doctors. He received the money in a check and cashed it at a New York bank Monday. He left that night by airplane.

Soblen is the brother of a previously imprisoned Soviet spy, Jack Sobel, 57, who was the government's star witness against him. Jack Sobel still has two years to serve of a seven-year term. The brothers, natives of Lithuania, went to the United States in 1941 and were naturalized in 1947.

Once Around Roundtown

"ONCE around roundtown" was included in a 9,000 mile motor trip through western states by Robert Shadley, 324 E. Mound St., and Frank Weber, Dayton, recently. During their trip, they visited Circleville, Utah, in addition to the Grand Canyon, Death Valley, Yosemite National Park and attended the World's Fair at Seattle, Wash.

FIFTEEN residents of the Pickaway County Home were guests of the Tarlton Fire Department at their annual Fish Fry yesterday. Mrs. Muriel Ott, superintendent of the Home, said the old folks enjoyed themselves thoroughly. One of them apparently ate too many fish, although he strongly denied any ill-effects, according to Mrs. Ott.

Ohio Marshal Is Slain in Gun Battle

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—The 60-year-old town marshal of nearby West Liberty was shot to death early today in a gun battle with a Michigan man who in turn was shot and wounded by the marshal.

Marshal Sherman Ricketts died at the scene of bullet wounds in the chest and groin, but his blazing gun still managed to fell a man identified by deputy sheriffs as Earl R. Jacobs, 24, of Jerome, Mich.

The deputies reported that Ricketts came upon Jacobs as the latter was attempting to switch license plates on a car believed to have been stolen in Michigan. The report made of the shooting by the sheriff's office said Jacobs grabbed a gun from the seat of the car and started firing at Ricketts.

The marshal fired back, and Jacobs was hit in the arm and ankle. The wounds kept him from leaving the scene and he was taken into custody upon arrival of deputy sheriffs.

Officers said Jacobs admitted shooting the marshal, but that they planned no formal filing of charges pending further investigation. Jacobs was taken to Mary Rutan Hospital here where his wounds were described as not serious.

Meanwhile authorities said Jacobs was paroled May 16 to Cleveland from the Chillicothe, Ohio, Federal Reformatory where he had served 33 months for interstate auto theft under commitment from Illinois. Reformatory officials said they had never received a parole report on the man.

The shooting took place at 3 a. m. in front of the Presbyterian Church in the village. Ricketts had first been alerted by a resident who saw Jacobs acting suspiciously, deputies said.

For a time immediately after the shooting deputies thought a second man was involved in the attempt to switch license plates from the stolen car, but later they concluded that no one else was involved.

The marshal leaves his widow, Anna, and a married daughter, West Liberty is a Logan County village of about 1,400 in west central Ohio, situated south of here.

Pay Television To Get First Major Test

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Pay television's biggest test so far will be seen tonight in about 200 homes in Hartford and within a 15-mile radius.

RKO Phonovision will broadcast the program over WHCT (Channel 18) of Hartford.

RKO Phonovision and the Zenith Radio Corp. are partners in the three-year-old experiment—a $10 million venture in competition with movie theaters and conventional broadcasters.

Tonight's program has an introduction featuring remarks by Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and several Connecticut political figures.

Then will come "Sunrise at Campobello," a movie that already has played in Hartford, and "Midsummer Night's Dream," a foreign-made film version of Shakespeare's comedy played by puppets, which has not been shown in Hartford movie houses or on television.

The set owner's tab for the show is $1, on top of preliminary costs. A subscriber pays $10 for installation of an electric decoder to get the program from WHCT, an ultra-high frequency station. A subscriber also will have to pay a rental charge of 75 cents a week for the decoder which is a small box on top of the television set that makes sense out of the station's signals that are scrambled so that non-payers can't watch the program for free. The weekly fee, which includes all servicing, will not be charged until October.

Congress Gives Approval To Kennedy Trade Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House 298 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

Here is how Ohio's congressmen voted:

Democrats for: Ashley, Cook, Feighan, Kirwan, Vanik. Republicans for: Bolton, Minshall, Mosher, Schenck. Democrats against: Hays, Moeller. Republicans against: Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Moorehead, Scherer.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight.

And, for the first time in the 28-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employees are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during retraining to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the

Britain Asked To Write New Rhodesia Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has asked that Britain call a conference soon to draft a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia giving a vote to every man in that British African territory whether he is black or white.

The resolution faces an uncertain future. Britain's chief delegate to the U.N. said it was unacceptable and impracticable. An African political leader from the territory warned that if Britain ignored the assembly's advice, bloody revolution might follow.

The resolution was sponsored by 38 African and Asian countries and toughened by a Bulgarian amendment. The assembly adopted it late Thursday in the last act of its 16th annual session, the longest ever, which started Sept. 18.

The vote was 73-1 with 27 abstentions. Only South Africa voted against the resolution. The Communist countries, almost all Africa and Asia and more than half of Latin America voted for it. The rest of Latin America, the United States, non-Communist Europe, the white countries of the Commonwealth and a few Asians abstained.

British delegate Sir Patrick Dean boycotted the voting to underline his "nonparticipation."

Ohio Power Co. Sued By GE for Turbines

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—General Electric Corp. has filed suit against the Ohio Power Co. for $1,602,000 it claims the utility owes it on a contract for installing large turbines at Ohio Power's Phillip Sporn plant.

General Electric contended in the suit filed Thursday in Stark County Common Pleas Court that the contract, including cost increases granted by an escalator clause, totaled $11.7 million and that Ohio Power has paid only $10.2 million. The suit is for the balance.

bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance."

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-

Minn., predicted gentle treatment, but the chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he is reserving judgment on the measure. He said the committee will have to have four or five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Administration leaders know they will face in the Senate efforts to make all the major changes in the legislation which were blocked in the House—and maybe more. These were considered certain to include efforts to eliminate the trade adjustment aid provisions, or at least to cut down the scale of payments to workers, which are higher than ordinary unemployment payments.

Also considered certain to come up is a proposed amendment to tighten oil import quotas.

Jury Awards $3.5 Million To Man Labeled as Commie

NEW YORK (AP)—Former disc jockey John Henry Faulk was awarded $3.5 million libel damages Thursday night on his charge that linking him to a Communist conspiracy destroyed his broad casting career.

After deliberating four hours after an 11-week trial the jury, by an 11 to 1 vote, found for Faulk against the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, one of its directors; and the late Laurence A. Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y.

Johnson, excused from attending the trial because of ill health, died Wednesday in a Bronx motel.

The panel of eight men and four women awarded Faulk a total of $1 million compensatory damages divided among all three defendants and punitive damages of $1.25 million each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk's counsel had asked an award of $4 million.

Defense attorneys said they definitely will appeal.

The verdict was handed down on the Faulks' 14th wedding anniversary, prompting Mrs. Faulk to say: "It's the nicest present I could have got."

During the trial, Faulk was described as the third or fourth leading disc jockey in the New York area. He conducted programs on radio and television for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Aware was incorporated in 1953 with the avowed aim of "combating the communist conspiracy in entertainment communications."

Faulk charged that a bulletin of Aware, published Feb. 10, 1956, falsely accused him of pro-Communist sympathies. He said Hartnett prepared the material and Johnson was instrumental in distributing it to broadcasting and advertising executives.

Testifying for Faulk, many persons in the entertainment world detailed a pattern of blacklisting in the industry during the 1950's.

Until Thursday the jury was unaware of the death of Johnson, 73, whose pajama-clad body was found in bed. Positive identification was made by his son-in-law, Donald J. Giancola of Syracuse. A medical examiner said the body bore no marks of violence. Johnson had a history of a heart ailment.

Mexicans Mass To Welcome Yankee Chief

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy received a massive welcome today as he arrived in this festive capital and called on Mexico and the United States to carry on common revolutionary traditions by waging a new battle for economic and social progress.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed at the airport and along the motorcade route as the U.S. chief executive and his wife landed for a three-day visit south of the border.

The main streets were gay with paper Mexican and U.S. flags—hastily repaired after a night downpour.

Welcomed by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, Kennedy delivered a brief airport speech keyed to the burgeoning cold war over Latin America that is posed by Marxist Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Mexico and the United States, he said in his speech as prepared for delivery "are both children of revolution" who share a more than 2,000 miles of peaceful border.

Both the Mexican and the American revolutions, he said, had a common "passion for the expansion of social justice, economic opportunity, national independence and personal freedom."

The struggle today, he said, is to complete the work of revolutionary ancestors, "to carry forward a hemisphere-wide Alliance of Progress to win a better and more abundant life for the people of the Americas."

This task is as vast and heroic, he declared, as that undertaken by "Washington and Hidalgo, by Juarez and Lincoln."

He referred to Miguel Hidalgo, the Mexican revolutionist who died in 1811, and Benito Pablo Juarez, the Mexican hero president of the last century.

The task, he said, required contributions by industrialized countries to nations seeking development, and basic social reforms to share the fruits of progress with all.

The new revolution, Kennedy said, is "not a revolution of force or fear, not the impositions of new tyrannies or new bloodshed" but a peaceful revolution to show (Continued on Page 2)

The U.S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case, and Soblen then fled the country.

A U.S. District judge in New York ordered the $100,000 bail forfeited when Soblen failed to appear. Soblen's wife, a psychiatrist whose professional name is Dr. Dina Soblen, had posted $40,000 and the remaining $60,000, in U.S. government bonds, was put up by Helen Buttenweiser, a lawyer and niece of former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Buttenweiser, a banker's wife, said she put up the money because of her interest in changing bail systems. She said present systems benefit either the rich or criminal able to raise bond.

Informal sources said Soblen made his trip to Israel on a Canadian passport issued to his brother, Bruce—or Beras—Soblen, who is dead. Arrested in a tourist hotel at noon Thursday, he was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel.

It was learned that Soblen financed his flight with a $1,600 investment he withdrew from the Circle Manhattan Medical Group, an association of doctors. He received the money in a check and cashed it at a New York bank Monday. He left that night by airplane.

Soblen is the brother of a previously imprisoned Soviet spy, Jack Sobel, 57, who was the government's star witness against him. Jack Sobel still has two years to serve of a seven-year term. The brothers, natives of Lithuania, went to the United States in 1941 and were naturalized in 1947.

Once Around Roundtown

"ONCE around roundtown" was included in a 9,000 mile motor trip through western states by Robert Shadley, 324 E. Mound St., and Frank Weber, Dayton, recently. . . . During their westward trip, the Purdue University students visited Circleville, Utah, in addition to the Grand Canyon, Death Valley, Yosemite National Park and attended the World's Fair at Seattle, Wash.

FIFTEEN residents of the Pickaway County Home were guests of the Tarlton Fire Department at their annual Fish Fry yesterday. Mrs. Muriel Ott, superintendent of the Home, said the old folks enjoyed themselves thoroughly. One of them apparently ate too many fish, although he strongly denied any ill-effects, according to Mrs. Ott.

Ohio Marshal Is Slain in Gun Battle

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—The 60-year-old town marshal of nearby West Liberty was shot to death early today in a gun battle with a Michigan man who in turn was shot and wounded by the marshal.

Marshal Sherman Ricketts died at the scene of bullet wounds in the chest and groin, but his blazing gun still managed to fell a man identified by deputy sheriffs as Earl R. Jacobs, 24, of Jerome, Mich.

The deputies reported that Ricketts came upon Jacobs as the latter was attempting to switch license plates on a car believed to have been stolen in Michigan. The report made of the shooting by the sheriff's office said Jacobs grabbed a gun from the seat of the car and started firing at Ricketts.

The marshal fired back, and Jacobs was hit in the arm and ankle. The wounds kept him from leaving the scene and he was taken into custody upon arrival of deputy sheriffs.

Officers said Jacobs admitted shooting the marshal, but that they planned no formal filing of charges pending further investigation. Jacobs was taken to Mary Rutan Hospital here where his wounds were described as not serious.

Meanwhile authorities said Jacobs was paroled May 16 to Cleveland from the Chillicothe, Ohio, Federal Reformatory where he had served 33 months for interstate auto theft under commitment from Illinois. Reformatory officials said they had never received a parole report on the man.

The shooting took place at 3 a. m. in front of the Presbyterian Church in the village. Ricketts had first been alerted by a resident who saw Jacobs acting suspiciously, deputies said.

For a time immediately after the shooting deputies thought a second man was involved in the attempt to switch license plates from the stolen car, but later they concluded that no one else was involved.

The marshal leaves his widow, Anna, and a married daughter. West Liberty is a Logan County village of about 1,400 in west central Ohio, situated south of here.

Pay Television To Get First Major Test

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Pay television's biggest test so far will be seen tonight in about 200 homes in Hartford and within a 15-mile radius.

RKO Phonovision will broadcast the program over WHCT (Channel 18) of Hartford.

RKO Phonovision and the Zenith Radio Corp. are partners in the three-year-old experiment—a $10 million venture in competition with movie theaters and possibly in competition with conventional broadcasters.

Tonight's program has an introduction featuring remarks by Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and several Connecticut political figures.

Then will come "Sunrise at Campobello," a movie that already has played in Hartford, and "Midsummer Night's Dream," a foreign-made film version of Shakespeare's comedy played by puppets, which has not been shown in Hartford movie houses or on television.

The set owner's tab for the show is $1, on top of preliminary costs. A subscriber pays $10 for installation of an electric decoder to get the program from WHCT, an ultra-high frequency station. A subscriber also will have to pay a rental charge of 75 cents a week for the decoder which is a small box on top of the television set that makes sense out of the station's signals that are scrambled so that non-payers can't watch the program for free. The weekly fee, which includes all servicing, will not be charged until October.

Congress Gives Approval To Kennedy Trade Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House 298 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

Here is how Ohio's congressmen voted:

Democrats for: Ashley, Cook, Feighan, Kirwan, Vanik. Republicans against: Bolton, Minshall, Mosher, Schenck. Democrats against: Hays, Moeller, Republicans against: Brown, Ayres, Betts, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Moorehead, Scherer.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight. And, for the first time in the 28-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employees are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during retraining to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the

Britain Asked To Write New Rhodesia Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has asked that Britain call a conference soon to draft a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia giving a vote to every man in that British African territory whether he is black or white.

The resolution faces an uncertain future. Britain's chief delegate to the U.N. said it was unacceptable and impracticable. An African political leader from the territory warned that if Britain ignored the assembly's advice, bloody revolution might follow.

The resolution was sponsored by 38 African and Asian countries and toughened by a Bulgarian amendment. The assembly adopted it late Thursday in the last act of its 16th annual session, the longest ever, which started Sept. 18.

The vote was 73-1 with 27 abstentions. Only South Africa voted against the resolution. The Communist countries, almost all Africa and Asia and more than half of Latin America voted for it. The rest of Latin America, the United States, non-Communist Europe, the white countries of the Commonwealth and a few Asians abstained.

British delegate Sir Patrick Dean boycotted the voting to underline his "nonparticipation."

Ohio Power Co. Sued By GE for Turbines

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—General Electric Corp. has filed suit against the Ohio Power Co. for $1,602,000 it claims the utility owes it on a contract for installing large turbines at Ohio Power's Phillip Sporn plant.

General Electric contended in the suit filed Thursday in Stark County Common Pleas Court that the contract, including cost increases granted by an escalator clause, totaled $11.7 million and that Ohio Power has paid only $10.2 million. The suit is for the balance.

bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance."

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-

Minn., predicted gentle treatment, but the chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he is reserving judgment on the measure. He said the committee will have to have four or five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Administration leaders know they will face in the Senate efforts to make all the major changes in the legislation which were blocked in the House—and maybe more. These were considered certain to include efforts to eliminate the trade adjustment aid provisions, or at least to cut down the scale of payments to workers, which are higher than ordinary unemployment payments.

Also considered certain to come up is a proposed amendment to tighten oil import quotas.

Jury Awards $3.5 Million To Man Labeled as Commie

NEW YORK (AP)—Former disc jockey John Henry Faulk was awarded $3.5 million libel damages Thursday night on his charge that linking him to a Communist conspiracy destroyed his broadcasting career.

After deliberating four hours after an 11-week trial the jury, by an 11 to 1 vote, found for Faulk against the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, one of its directors; and the late Laurence A. Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y.

Johnson, excused from attending the trial because of ill health, died Wednesday in a Bronx motel.

The panel of eight men and four women awarded Faulk a total of $1 million compensatory damages divided among all three defendants and punitive damages of $1.25 million each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk's counsel had asked an award of $4 million.

Defense attorneys said they definitely will appeal.

The verdict was handed down on the Faulks' 14th wedding anniversary, prompting Mrs. Faulk to say: "It's the nicest present I could have got."

During the trial, Faulk was described as the third or fourth leading disc jockey in the New York area. He conducted programs on radio and television for the Columbus Broadcasting System.

Aware was incorporated in 1953 with the avowed aim of "combat-

Immediate Cut in Taxes Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce called today for immediate income and corporation-tax cuts totaling $5.5 to $7.5 billion as a business stimulant.

The chamber acknowledged that the reduction would further unbalance the federal budget. It was the first such recommendation in the business organization's 50-year history.

The organization acted at a time when organized labor also has called for immediate tax cuts to stimulate the economy.

President Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that his administration was watching the economic situation closely and would recommend an immediate tax cut if it found one necessary.

The administration earlier had announced plans for an across-the-board tax cut effective next year.

In a statement today, chamber President H. Ladd Plumley said a tax cut delay "not only hurts the disaster of a recession in the U.S. but its spread to Canada, already under pressure, and hence to Europe." He added:

"The free world cannot look with complacency upon such a catastrophe."

Mexicans Mass To Welcome Yankee Chief

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy received a massive welcome today as he arrived in this festive capital and called on Mexico and the United States to carry on common revolutionary traditions by waging a new battle for economic and social progress.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed at the airport and along the motorcade route as the U.S. chief executive and his wife landed for a three-day visit south of the border.

The main streets were gay with paper Mexican and U.S. flags—hastily repaired after a night downpour.

Welcomed by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, Kennedy delivered a brief airport speech keyed to the burgeoning cold war over Latin America that is posed by Marxist Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Mexico and the United States, he said in his speech as prepared for delivery "are both children of revolution" who share a more than 2,000 miles of peaceful border.

Both the Mexican and the American revolutions, he said, had a common "passion for the expansion of social justice, economic opportunity, national independence and personal freedom."

The struggle today, he said, is to complete the work of revolutionary ancestors, "to carry forward a hemisphere-wide Alliance of Progress to win a better and more abundant life for the people of the Americas."

This task is as vast and heroic, he declared, as that undertaken by "Washington and Hidalgo, by Juarez and Lincoln."

He referred to Miguel Hidalgo, the Mexican revolutionist who died in 1811, and Benito Pablo Juarez, the Mexican hero president of the last century.

The task, he said, required contributions by industrialized countries to nations seeking development, and basic social reforms to share the fruits of progress with all.

The new revolution, Kennedy said, is "not a revolution of force or fear, not the impositions of new tyrannies or new bloodshed" but a peaceful revolution to show (Continued on Page 2)

10-Ton Theft Is Mystery In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Who would steal a 10-ton loading tractor and how would they go about removing it?

The mystery of who stole one from a construction site near here on Ohio 139 is being investigated by sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen.

The $8,500 tractor disappeared sometime Wednesday night from a work site of the Dever Construction Co. of nearby McDermott. No one realized it was missing until the next day.

But then several persons remembered seeing a large truck and trailer capable of carrying a 10-ton tractor in the area the day of the theft.

Crews working at the site Wednesday night also reported seeing such a truck and trailer—this one carrying a loading tractor. They told highway patrolmen the trailer bore Indiana license plates and was last seen heading west.

A check with the Indiana State Police disclosed a firm there also recently.

Teen-Agers Turn Green But Not from Envy

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A youth who was watching a movie at a drive-in theater with several other teen-agers reached for a can of insect spray in the car.

It didn't take long to discover he had picked up a can of spray paint instead. Green paint covered the interior of the car and several teen-agers.

Winnie Scheduled For Hip Surgery

The announcement was made following Churchill's return by special jet ambulance plane from Monte Carlo, where he suffered the injury in a fall in his hotel room Thursday.

Churchill came back to London with his leg in a cast but in good humor. He waived to crowds and gave the V-for-victory sign as he was transported from London airport to the hospital.

provisions they had sponsored aimed at tightening the law. The act provides authority to regulate shipments to unfriendly nations.

Conferees on the bitterly controversial Sugar Act held their first session Thursday night and reached no agreements of any kind.

The Senate has before it another House-passed bill with some June 30 deadlines, a Public Welfare Act revision measure, but Senate leaders have put this over to Monday.

It is the vehicle chosen by Senate Democratic leaders for an attempt at winning adoption of a health care plan for the aged financed under Social Security. The health plan would be hooked onto the welfare measure as an amendment.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., administration leader in this effort, conferred at length with Republicans Thursday on a compromise amendment to set up such a plan.

Jury Indicts Financier for Giant Theft

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted Edward M. Gilbert, 39, on charges of misappropriating $1,953,000.

The 15-count indictment also accuses him of using the mails and wires for fraudulent purposes while he was president of the E.L. Bruce Co., the nation's largest hardwood flooring manufacturer.

The top penalty upon conviction on all counts is prescribed by law as 74 years in prison and fines totaling $82,000.

Gilbert is in Brazil, which has no extradition treaty with the United States.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Peter M. Morrison obtained a bench warrant for Gilbert's arrest from U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas F. Murphy a short time after the indictment was handed up Thursday.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Gilbert is the sole defendant in the case which led to the indictment.

The indictment grew from an investigation initiated by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The investigation, which is continuing, was started almost immediately after Gilbert resigned as president of the Bruce firm on June 12 and admitted to its stockholders that he had withdrawn the $1,953,000 from the company without authorization. He flew to Rio de Janeiro a few hours later.

"At Rio de Janeiro Gilbert said: 'I hope to pay everybody back and make everything whole some day.'"

Ag Secretary, Prober Clash Over Records in Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., clashed with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today over a lack of written records of conversations dealing with the Phillie Sol Estes case.

"I can't see the reluctance of the department to plug a loophole," Mundt commented as Freeman underwent questioning before the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Freeman spoke of "too much red tape."

Freeman had testified earlier he has taken steps he considers adequate to prevent incidents such as the Estes case in the future, and has issued directives designed to "make clear to the whole system that irregularities would be dealt with sharply."

Mundt complained that many officials in the Agriculture Department had kept no written records of their conversations dealing with the Estes case. The department has canceled a number of cotton allotments transferred to Estes, and has imposed penalties on the Texas financier.

Greenfield Utility Decision Appealed

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A group of citizens, fighting a veto-approved sale of the municipal electric utility system to the Dayton Power and Light Co., have carried their case to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Leon Harvey and others appealed to the state's highest court Thursday from a Highland County Common Pleas Court ruling denying them an injunction to stop the sale. The 4th District Court of Appeals refused to overrule the action.

The small group of citizens claim the $1,125,341 offered by Dayton Power and approved in 1960 is insufficient. Voters approved the sale by a 2-1 majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The thumping House vote for his trade expansion bill came like a tonic for President Kennedy, who had begun to talk like a frustrated man.

It's no sign, however, that other big, controversial measures on the Kennedy program will get through. The reciprocal trade policy, begun in 1934, has had considerable support in both parties for years. President Eisenhower, for instance, was for lowering of trade barriers.

On other issues — his defeated farm bill for example — Kennedy has been learning the hard way the truth of a political maxim:

A presidential candidate's ability to promise is usually far greater than his ability to perform. Especially if he promises big innovations.

In the 1960 campaign, Kennedy pledged bold and novel programs which, he argued, were needed to "get this country going again." This week he acknowledged at a news conference, that he lacks a dependable working majority in Congress to get the job done. This despite the fact that the Democrats have big majorities in both chambers—64 to 35 in the Senate and 263 to 174 in the House.

Kennedy said it was hard to get any big, controversial bill through because so many Democrats vote with the Republicans. But this has been going on for years.

In fact, the last president who could make sweeping promises of bold innovations, with any real hope of being able to perform, was Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign.

When he got elected, Congress really ate out of his hand for a while, passing bill after bill containing vast social and economic innovations. But that was because the country had been going through an economic cataclysm—the Great Depression. The mood of Congress, and the country, was anything but conservative.

But the New Deal ran out of steam after a while. A turning point might be said to have come in 1937. That year Roosevelt, angered because the Supreme Court had knocked down NRA and some of his other measures, proposed a bill which would have enlarged him to enlarge and thereby pack the court. The bill was beaten.

Since the mood of Congress has largely been conservative. There have been no great innovations in domestic policy, barring of course the emergency measures of World War II.

If the Democratic party were a single unit, with a common viewpoint, Kennedy could count on a dependable majority. But the party has seldom been this. It's like a big tent, sheltering liberals and conservatives. To a degree, this also can be said of the Republican party.

In Congress the conservatives — Republican and Democratic — are the dominating force, and there's no sign on the horizon that this situation is likely to change any time soon.

Stark County Judge To Wait for Verdict

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stark County Common Pleas Court Judge Paul C. Weber will not know for another year whether the Ohio Supreme Court will suspend him from law practice indefinitely.

The court deferred final judgment for that length of time after noting Wednesday that the judge has been attentive to duty and has not "used or consumed alcoholic beverages" for the past two years.

Weber's alleged conduct prior to the two-year period was the basis of a move for suspension by the court's grievance committee.

Mock Liver Is Perfected

Artificial Organ Rescues Patients

CHICAGO (AP) — An artificial liver can rescue some patients from coma due to a faulty liver, three physicians report.

The substitute liver is a tube filled with special resins—an ion exchange ammonia—which removes excess ammonia from the blood passing through it.

Normally, the liver gets rid of the ammonia, which is formed when proteins are broken down in the body. The excess ammonia is one cause of coma, and death.

The new device was described to the American Medical Association's annual convention by Drs. Nathaniel P. H. Ching, Thomas F. Nealon Jr. and John H. Gibbon Jr., of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Blood is taken from an arm, pumped through the column, and returned to the vein in the arm. The device has been found capable of removing 80 per cent of the ammonia in the blood, the team said.

It has brought five out of 10 patients treated thus far out of their comas, they said. In most of the failures, the patients were bleeding internally before the blood-cleansing aid was tried.

The method cannot help all patients with chronic liver trouble, the physicians stressed. It appears best for those with some liver insufficiency who temporarily get into trouble because of insults such as infection, excess protein in the diet, bleeding in the gastro-intestinal tract, or surgery. Any bleeding has to be controlled first.

The Philadelphia team began experimenting with dogs in 1959. Now a pharmaceutical firm is developing a disposable, assembled unit which need only the addition of a pump.

The physicians said the technique looks promising and safe, and they urged other physicians to try it on more patients to establish its full value.

'Lights on' Safety Drive Scheduled

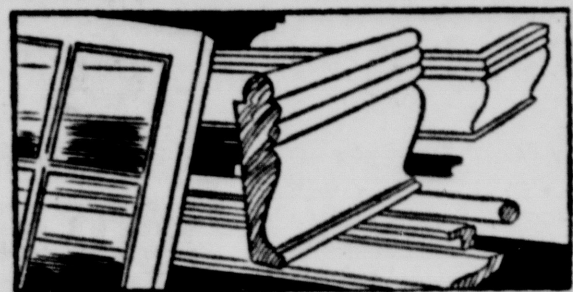

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Grant Keys, Ohio highway safety director, said his department is promoting a "lights on" program by motorists from 6 p. m., July 2 to one-half hour before sunrise July 5. The program is an effort to encourage caution during the July 4th holiday period. The department's section on statistics estimates that 10 people will die during the holiday period from 6 p. m., July 3, to midnight July 4.

Goldwaters Sweat Waiting on Pigeon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Excuse the clichés but the pigeons came home to roost on the air conditioner and the family of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has been perspiring it out ever since. On a hot day last May 15, Goldwater started to turn on the air conditioner at the family apartment. He discovered that a pair of pigeons had built a nest on it and mamma was busy warming the eggs she had laid. Unwilling to disturb this domestic arrangement, the Goldwaters have not used the air conditioner since, despite Washington's sometimes sweltering weather. But the senator and his family are hoping that the young pigeons now nearly as big as their parents, will quit the nest soon. After all, July is just around the corner.

20th Century-Fox Chieftain Retires; Vast Losses Cited

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The retirement of Spyros Skouras as president of 20th Century-Fox surprised no one in Hollywood. It had been expected since last fall.

Even before the studio's troubles with such recalcitrant stars as Elizabeth Taylor, Marilyn Monroe and Dean Martin, the Wall Street money men had moved in to depose the Greek emigrant who had risen from busboy to head the town's second largest studio.

A $25 million loss in production plus the astronomical cost of "Cleopatra" — at $30 million the most expensive movie ever made — doomed the 20-year reign of Skouras as head of the company.

Last September director George Stevens called a news conference to tell why the studio dropped his "The Greatest Story Ever Told," a Carl Sanburg scripted movie about the life of Christ.

At the time, Stevens had spent $2.3 million without a foot of film being shot.

"For some me we had been playing the game "who is Fox?" said Stevens, who assumed it was Skouras. Skouras expressed great confidence in the picture, but the Wall Street bankers on the Fox board ordered the shelving of the movie.

"That answered the question: 'Who is Fox?'" said Stevens.

Stevens since has moved the story to another studio and will film it this summer.

The director flew to New York, got the movie lock stock and barrel. Fox was out $2.3 million.

But that was only a pittance compared with the costs of "Cleopatra." The millions in Rome piled up faster than the headlines. Liz Taylor and Richard Burton fiddled about Rome while Fox burned.

As the scenes in "Cleopatra" wound to an agonizing finish, the studio got hit with a deadly body blow by Marilyn Monroe and Dean Martin.

Marilyn got fired from "Something's Got to Give." Martin objected to working with Lee Remick, Marilyn's replacement. So he quit. Then he sued.

This all happened while the stock market was dropping. Fox stock from $39 to $20 a share. It was too much.

The board of directors said Skouras was retiring because of ill health.

Skouras, 69, whose salary as president last year was $139,000, is also a big stockholder in the film firm.

The statement Wednesday said Skouras' successor will be chosen by a committee including Skouras himself, and a new position will be offered to him after his retirement as president.

Greenfield Firm Given Redevelopment Loan

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Officials here say the Collins Packing Co. of Greenfield has been granted the first loan to an Ohio firm by the federal Area Redevelopment Administration.

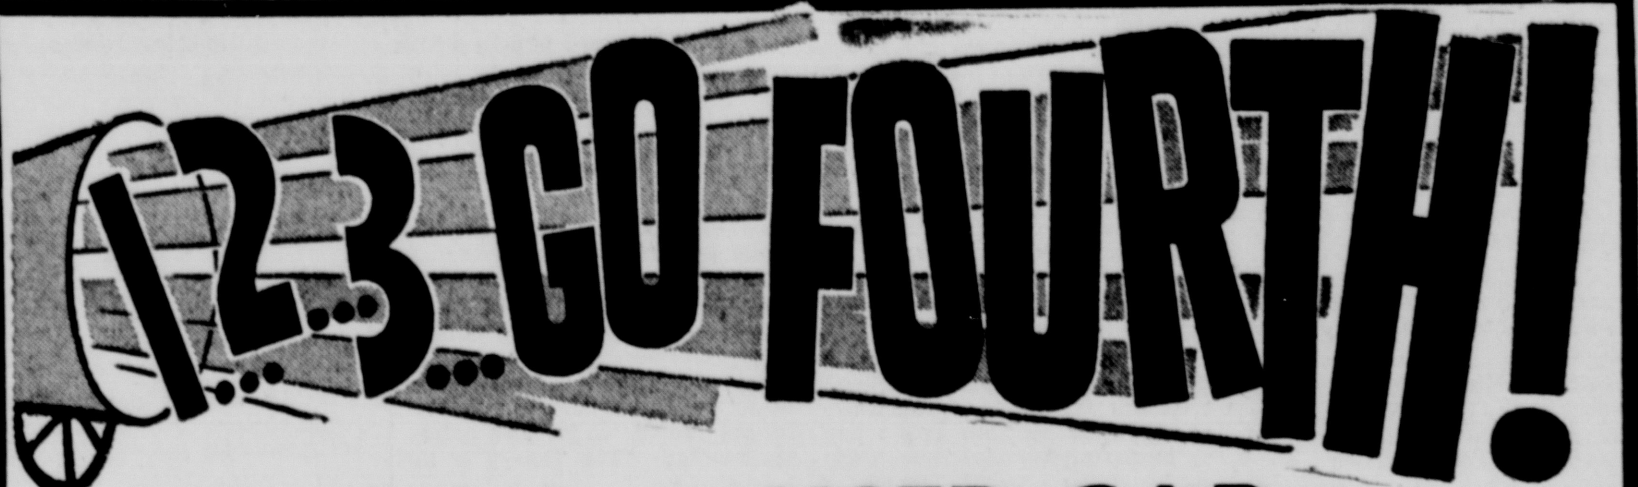

Word was received from the office of Sen. Frank J. Lausche that the ARA has approved a $212,700 loan to the company to help finance a $327,300 plant expansion program. The expansion is expected to create 50 to 65 new jobs.

Complicated Saving

Housewives who are becoming a bit annoyed by the constantly rising cost of living may find some solace in the news that in the area of agriculture research, at least, they have been saved a considerable portion of their budget over the years.

Agriculture Department statisticians have compiled a grocery shopping list of the modern housewife and have compared the cost of producing it today to the cost in 1940. They found it would cost an additional $13 billion each year to produce 1962 requirements with 1940 know-how, or about $5 a week more in the average household budget.

What makes this estimated saving so remarkable is that it is the result of only $6 billion in agriculture research, spent over the last 100 years. This is an enviable rate of return on research investment.

It is somewhat less remarkable, however, when one takes into account the dollar erosion which has occurred since 1940. That grocery list used by agriculture researchers for comparison purposes would look considerably different if adjusted for the changed purchasing power of the dollar. It takes $2.50 today to buy what $1 was worth in food in 1940.

This shrinks the $5 weekly saving to $2, still not a bad return on the limited research investment. But then one comes to an entry on the balance sheet entitled, "taxes required to keep agriculture from overproducing." And this throws the Agriculture Department's original version into reverse posture by adding $2.50 a week to the household bill.

Compared to other areas of consumer interest, the housewife gets off easy at that by paying only $5.50 for a saving of $5.

Development Trend

What can be done to develop an area? Washington has gone in to slum clearance, planning, etc., in a big way. In Italy the Agency for the Development of Southern Italy has allocated 15 million lire ($24,000) to clear up the mystery of who the girl was who posed for the Mona Lisa.

For a century or two it was assumed she was the wife of Francesco del Giocondo, and to this day Italians call the celebrated da Vinci painting la Gioconda. But art scholars have turned up new evidence supporting the theory that she was one Constanza Davalos, a Neopolitan gentlewoman. Under the circumstances, it's no wonder she had that secret smile.

Assuming that the whole thing is settled one of these days, it's hard for the coarse American mind to understand what it will do for the development of southern Italy.

Business Office Characters

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every day begins a fresh drama in the average business office.

Did you ever watch how people come to work in the morning?

Every one arrives in a different manner, and the way he does is a tipoff to his personality.

If you go, in early yourself someday, you might note these familiar characters in your own office:

Happy Harry—He read somewhere that the man who wins is the man who grins. His expression is permanently creased like a laughing mask. If anybody can smile his way to the top—well, that's Harry. He can even smile on Mondays.

The Clod—"Back to the old stable mine," he mumbles, slumps over to his desk, buries his head in a pile of papers and never says another word to anyone all the rest of the day.

Robert Red-Eye—Life is just one long hangover to this middle-aged office playboy. As he opens the door, he thrusts out a foot cautiously—to feel if the floor is still there. His nerves are so jangled that when the phone rings he leaps three feet in the air, and comes down quivering.

Genial George—He takes it as a personal crusade to pep up office morale. Invariably he slaps the first person he sees on the back, and asks, "Did you hear the one about—?" Then he tells you the same joke you told him the day before.

Symptomatic Sid—"Didn't get a wink of sleep again last night," grumbles the office hypochondriac. Then for an hour and a half he keeps anyone else from working by giving a lengthy catalog of his aches and pains. He doesn't realize what his real ailment is—that he's a living pain in the neck.

Haunted Hubert—"Did the boss ask for me?" he asks in fright as he enters. Existence is a continual crisis for Hubert. This is because he is always desperately doing today the job he should have done the day before yesterday. All his life he has been two days behind time—and never has been able to catch up.

Delbert the Dove—The newlywed can't wait even to take off his coat before calling home to be sure that no disaster has befallen the bride he left just 25 minutes ago. His love chirps over the phone make all the older married men slightly ill. Delbert has been married only three weeks—but already he has dishpan hands.

Harold Highbrow—The intellectual office boy enters with an air of utter disdain and says nothing to anybody because he thinks they are all a bunch of lowbrow creeps. When someone shouts "Boy!" Harold merely sniffs and continues reading "The Theory of the Leisure Class."

The Man Himself—The boss bustles in importantly, then fixes everyone in the room with a sweeping, imperious glare. Satisfied that the entire staff is thoroughly cowed, he closes the door to his office, leans back in his swivel chair, puts his feet on the desk and takes a nice long refreshing nap.

The drama of another day at the office has begun. Whether anyone will now get any work done is quite another matter.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE—The stock market has had a shakeout—is business next in line? In this, last of two articles on the economy at midyear, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the outlook for the rest of 1962.

NEW YORK (AP)—In Wall Street they are talking openly about a recession as if it were a sure thing just around the corner. In Washington administration spokesmen are pooh-poohing any such visitation this year at least. But they are asking for new measures to forestall or cushion a business slump, just in case.

Yet most businessmen still are saying that even if the general economic picture is clouded the outlook for their own firms hasn't changed much nor has their planning.

And current statistics still show more plus than minus signs, although many regarded as fore-runners of business changes are pointing down.

The reasons recession talk is common as the second half of 1962 starts:

1. The sharp stock market break startles and worries even those who don't own a share but regard the market as a crystal ball, dominated by traders with inside information.

2. Business in general improved in the first half of the year—up at a disappointing rate and the slow-down could be the topping out of a brief recovery from the last slump.

3. The government-steel clash over prices makes many fear that business is in for a rough time from government and that profit prospects have dimmed.

4. The long postwar inflation has slowed to a crawl—is deflation next?

Business planning isn't being helped any by the fact this is an election year. Industry in general, and many individual firms, will be affected by what Congress will do about taxes, spending, international trade, and a multitude of existing or suggested controls. So will consumers. And so will many workers, employed or seeking jobs.

Many economists think that the momentum of the business recovery even if not impressive, guarantees generally good times for the rest of this year.

The plus factors for the rest of this year: Construction at a new high and well ahead of last year; auto sales promising the industry's second best year; consumer spending at a peak—with any sizable effect from the stock market break yet to show; industrial production rising—although the usual summer lull is just ahead; record personal savings on which consumers can draw.

The indicators pointing down: A drop in new orders for capital goods that industry buys; corporate profits better than in the first months of 1961; basic steel in a production slump; order backlogs in many industries declining; and the six-month drop in stock prices.

Those are the signs cited by those who see a recession near at hand.

Those who think any serious slump is many months away see the rest of the year as a good one for business—because of the momentum of the recovery, because of the stimulants of government spending and the psychology of a promised tax cut.

TWO TEEN-AGE ASPIRANTS to a stage career were trying out for their very first part, and discussing Helen Hayes, Katharine Anne Bancroft in their dressing room. As they mentioned each star's name, they pooh-poohed emphatically, and assured themselves that they would be ever so much better if they got the opportunity. Suddenly one interrupted to hand the other her greasepaint and inquired, "Say, how do you put this makeup on?"

A proud Washington hostess was instructing a new maid before a diplomatic cocktail party. "Dress modestly," said the hostess, "and don't wear any jewelry." The new maid said, "Thanks for the warning, Ma'am."

One unattended, itty bitty advertising magnate in the Twin Cities, according to Jerry Beatty, coined the following six unintentional malapropisms in the course of a five-day, 36-hour week: 1. Chafing at the dish. 2. Dropped it like a ten-foot pole. 3. Get on your bicycle and run like crazy. 4. He's just an ignorant ramus. 5. Let's not downgrade this up. 6. What's the American Medical Association doing in your garden? Offering a few tips to keep you there—and out of the hospital.

Linger on slowly. Don't dig in all at once or you'll be too stiff to lift a shove next time.

Twigs, thorns and toes scratch and scrape. Wash all cuts with soap and water. Let them bleed a little to rinse away all dirt. Cover with an adhesive strip bandage. See your doctor for deeper cuts and gashes.

Every lawn is loaded with lock-jaw (tetanus) germs, especially if you use any kind of fertilizer or allow animals on the grounds. Make sure your tetanus shots are up-to-date.

Your doctor may advise a booster every spring, one every four years or one after any dirty wound.

Power tools and mowers can save you back breaking work if you use them properly. Play safe. Study all the instructions, and when in doubt, check with a trained mechanic.

Insect sprays and weed-killers help pretty your garden. But they can numb any sting and prevent most swelling. Remove any stinger that's left in; it may cause dangerous infection.

Any sting that triggers enormous swelling, a blotchy rash, hoarseness or asthma signals serious allergy. The next reaction could be fatal. Ask your doctor about special shots to control this allergy.

Enjoy your garden, but remember to safeguard more than just your green thumb!

They provide for improvements in vacations and pensions and supplemental unemployment benefits. A few supplemental vacation plan could provide as much as a week's additional time off a year for every employee, union sources said.

The agreements were reached with the Aluminum Co. of America, Reynolds Metals Co., Kaiser Aluminum Corp., Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., and Ormet Inc.

The pact also calls for continuing a present 23-cent an hour cost-of-living allowance.

The settlement was announced at a news conference by McCord and John S. Harrison, Alcoa vice president in charge of personnel, and industrial relations.

They said a contract had been signed with Alcoa and that pacts with the other four companies would be signed later today.

The agreements were reached more than a month before the expiration of present contracts. This is the earliest this has been accomplished in 25 years of negotiations with the union, McDonald and Harrison said.

Stock Market Not Yardstick

By George Sokolsky

President Kennedy cannot ignore the uneasily economy of the United States. It is true that prices in the Stock Exchange have been too high.

To use a rule of thumb which a very successful financier has used, it is unwise to buy at the bottom of the market; it is unwise to sell at what looks like the top. Practically, when a stock sells for more than 15 or 20 times its earnings, its price is inflated by emotional factors, including public relations gimmicks.

But the stock market is not to be taken as a yardstick of the economy. It is a place, here as well as in other countries, where men gamble on probabilities and possibilities and the gamblers can upset all economic laws if they deal in large enough volume. Short selling should be prohibited by law, as a gambler's device.

The stock market does not cause a recession or a depression. Both are normal characteristics of adjustment in the economic system. Every device conceived in capitalist or communist countries to avoid or avert "hills and valleys" has failed, because in certain periods, "good times," man tends to over-produce until a period of saturation sets in. These may be called "bad times."

It has been assumed by optimistic politicians and statisticians that as there are vast backward areas of the world, it ought to be possible by a pump-priming trick, "foreign aid," not only to achieve a political goal but to raise the standard of living of a people so swiftly that they would immediately consume the surpluses of the countries which are over-produced. This has not happened. Instead, those countries which are over-produced. This has not happened. Instead, those countries that stockpiled to maintain high prices and high wages are stuck with their stockpiles and, in 1962, the entire world is suffering from mild to severe economic disturbances. The United States could break the back of the economies of many nations and guarantee a universal depression of major dimensions by dumping its stockpile at bargain-counter prices.

This problem goes back to Joseph in Egypt, if my readers recall the story in the Bible. Joseph invented the stockpile as he did the ever-normal granary. He erected vast storages to hold the grain, so that in years of famine there would be food. The granaries became very osty and Egypt undertook enormous public works based on a slave system.

When the slaves revolted, Egypt's economy went to pieces. The leading country in the world at one moment in history, Egypt never recovered from this curious economic experimentation.

This technique has, since the end of World War II, been used throughout the world in the hope of maintaining a war-expanded economy. It has not worked.

Take the example of Canada. Viewing the history of the Canadian dollar from 1846 to today, it has generally stood in relationship to the U. S. dollar in the vicinity of 90. This was advantageous to Canada which is dependent upon British and U. S. capital for its development. After all, Canada is a country of 3,621,616 square miles with a population of 17,000,000. It could hold a population of 50,000,000 to 100,000,000. But it cannot swiftly develop capital to finance the provision of work without assistance of other countries and without creating conditions favorable to exports.

The history of Canada has been a history of the export of raw materials and the import of manufactured goods and capital. It paralleled the history of the United States. Actually the two countries were one economically, except that the United States, having a more favorable climate, attracted more immigrants. As a result, the United States developed more rapidly than Canada and some of Canada's population overflowed into the United States either as a working force or as permanent settlers. But manufactured goods and capital flowed freely into Canada.

Up to Prohibition, this freedom of economic movement continued. Immense amounts of American capital flowed into Canada, which Canada could not consume by usual economic processes. Canada thus became an exporter of capital as well as an importer and the Canadian dollar moved out of line. Economic nationalism led to the cartel system; Canada swallowed more than it could chew.

That is true of so many other countries. Thus, a universal recession has set in, which, if not dealt with without regard to sentiment, can produce a universal depression.

Complicated Saving

Housewives who are becoming a bit annoyed by the constantly rising cost of living may find some solace in the news that in the area of agriculture research, at least, they have been saved a considerable portion of their budget over the years.

Agriculture Department statisticians have compiled a grocery shopping list of the modern housewife and have compared the cost of producing it today to the cost in 1940. They found it would cost an additional $13 billion each year to produce 1962 requirements with 1940 know-how, or about $5 a week more in the average household budget.

What makes this estimated saving so remarkable is that it is the result of only $6 billion in agriculture research, spent over the last 100 years. This is an enviable rate of return on research investment.

It is somewhat less remarkable, however, when one takes into account the dollar erosion which has occurred since 1940. That grocery list used by agriculture researchers for comparison purposes would look considerably different if adjusted for the changed purchasing power of the dollar. It takes $2.50 today to buy what $1 was worth in food in 1940.

This shrinks the $5 weekly saving to $2, still not a bad return on the limited research investment. But then one comes to an entry on the balance sheet entitled, "taxes required to keep agriculture from overproducing." And this throws the Agriculture Department's original version into reverse posture by adding $2.50 a week to the household bill.

Compared to other areas of consumer interest, the housewife gets off easy at that by paying only $5.50 for a saving of $5.

Development Trend

What can be done to develop an area? Washington has gone in to slum clearance, planning, etc., in a big way. In Italy the Agency for the Development of Southern Italy has allocated 15 million lire ($24,000) to clear up the mystery of who the girl was who posed for the Mona Lisa.

For a century or two it was assumed she was the wife of Francesco del Giocondo, and to this day Italians call the celebrated da Vinci painting la Gioconda. But art scholars have turned up new evidence supporting the theory that she was one Constanza Davalos, a Neopolitan gentlewoman. Under the circumstances, it's no wonder she had that secret smile.

Assuming that the whole thing is settled one of these days, it's hard for the coarse American mind to understand what it will do for the development of southern Italy.

Business Office Characters

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every day begins a fresh drama in the average business office.

Did you ever watch how people come to work in the morning?

Every one arrives in a different manner, and the way he does is a tipoff to his personality.

If you go, in early yourself someday, you might note these familiar characters in your own office:

Happy Harry—He reads somewhere that the man who wins is the man who grins. His expression is permanently creased like a laughing mask. If anybody can smile his way to the top—well, that's Harry. He can even smile on Mondays.

The Clod—"Back to the old salt mine," he mumbles, stumbles over to his desk, buries his head in a pile of papers and never says another word to anyone all the rest of the day.

Robert Red-Eye—Life is just one long hangover to this middle-aged office playboy. As he opens the door, he thrusts out a foot cautiously—to feel if the floor is still there. His nerves are so jangled that when the phone rings he leaps three feet in the air, and comes down quivering.

Genial George—He takes it as a personal crusade to pep up office morale. Invariably he slaps the first person he sees on the back, and asks, "Did you hear the one about—?" Then he tells you the same joke you told him the day before.

Symptomatic Sid—"Didn't get a wink of sleep again last night," grumbles the office hypochondriac. Then for an hour and a half he keeps anyone else from working by giving a lengthy catalog of his aches and pains. He doesn't realize what his real ailment is—that he's a living pain in the neck.

Haunted Hubert—"Did the boss ask for me?" he asks in fright as he enters. Existence is a continual crisis for Hubert. This is because he is always desperately doing today the job he should have done the day before yesterday. All his life he has been two days behind time—and never has been able to catch up.

Delbert the Dove—The newly-

wed can't wait even to take off his coat before calling home to be sure that no disaster has befallen the bride he left just 25 minutes ago. His love chirps over the phone make all the older married men slightly ill. Delbert has been married only three weeks—but already he has dishpan hands.

Harold Highbrow—The intellectual office boy enters with an air of utter disdain and says nothing to anybody because he thinks they are all a bunch of lowbrow creeps. When someone shouts "Boy!" Harold merely sniffs and continues reading "The Theory of the Leisure Class."

The Man Himself—The boss bustles in importantly, then fixes everyone in the room with a sweeping, imperial glare. Satisfied that the entire staff is thoroughly cowed, he closes the door to his office, leans back in his swivel chair, puts his feet on the desk and takes a nice long refreshing nap.

The drama of another day at the office has begun. Whether anyone will now get any work done is quite another matter.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE—The stock market has had a shakeout—is business next in line? In this, last of two articles on the economy at midyear, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the outlook for the rest of 1962.

NEW YORK (AP)—In Wall Street they are talking openly about a recession as if it were a sure thing just around the corner. In Washington administration spokesmen are pooh-poohing any such visitation this year at least. But they are asking for new measures to forestall or cushion a business slump, just in case.

Yet most businessmen still are saying that even if the general economic picture is clouded the outlook for their own firms hasn't changed much nor has their planning.

And current statistics still show more plus than minus signs, although many regarded as fore-runners of business changes are pointing down.

The reasons recession talk is common as the second half of 1962 starts:

1. The sharp stock market break startles and worries even those who don't own a share but regard the market as a crystal ball, dominated by traders with inside information.

2. Business in general improved in the first half of the year, but at a disappointing rate and the slowdown could be the tipping out of a brief recovery from the last slump.

3. The government-steel clash over prices makes many fear that business is in for a rough time from government and that profit prospects have dimmed.

4. The long postwar inflation has slowed to a crawl—is deflation next?

Business planning isn't being helped any by the fact this is an election year. Industry in general, and many individual firms, will be affected by what Congress will do about taxes, spending, international trade, and a multitude of existing or suggested controls. So will consumers. And so will many workers, employed or seeking jobs.

Many economists think that the momentum of the business recovery even if not impressive, guarantees generally good times for the rest of this year.

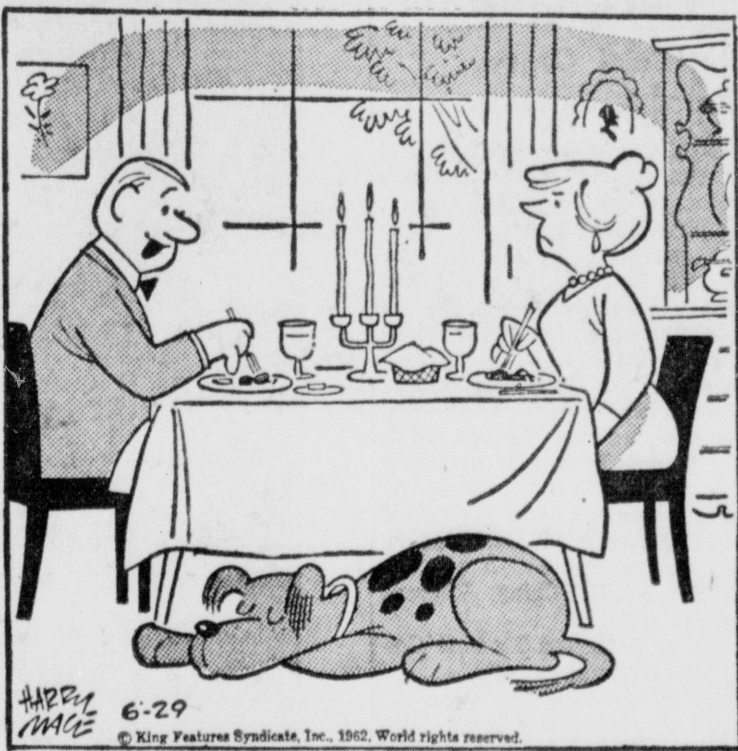

The plus factors for the rest of this year: Construction at a new high and well ahead of last year; auto sales promising the industry's second best year; consumer spending at a peak—with any sizeable effect from the stock market break yet to show; industrial production rising—although the usual summer slowdown is just ahead, record personal savings on which consumers can draw.

The indicators pointing down: A drop in new orders for capital goods that industry buys; corporate profits better than a year ago but lower than in the final months of 1961; basic steel in a production slump; order backlogs in many industries declining; and the six-month drop in stock prices weeks.

Those are the signs cited by those who see a recession near at hand.

Those who think any serious slump is many months away see the rest of the year as a good one for business—because of the momentum of the recovery, because of the stimulants of government spending and the psychology of a promised tax cut.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An Akron minister said today James Rodney Buck, who was executed Friday night for killing a policeman, wrote a letter to the policeman's widow before he died.

The minister, Rev. Bill Denton, of the Furnace Street Mission, declined to divulge the contents of the letter, but said it was written in a regretful tone.

The Rev. Mr. Denton was one of the men with Buck when he died in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary. He said the letter had been given him by prison officials for delivery to the widow of Floyd Weatherholt Jr.

Buck, 24, killed the 23-year-old Weatherholt in a gun battle outside a camera shop March 25, 1960, after taking some expensive photographic equipment from the shop.

Catholic, Protestant Clerics Join in Interfaith Retreat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
In a small chapel near Albany, N.Y., a few weeks ago a Catholic priest stood at a special altar which had been set up so he could celebrate Mass facing the congregation, just the reverse of the customary arrangement.

In the pews out front, following the Mass attentively, were two dozen clergymen—none of them Catholics.
Some sat in respectful silence; most knelt and, according to one of the ministers, seemed to be following the priest's suggestion that the ceremony be regarded as common worship. To help make it so, a Protestant minister read aloud the English translations of the Latin Mass prayers.

This was the opening exercise each morning in a three-day experiment which some would consider a daring venture in interfaith dialogue: A period of prayer and conversation conducted at the Glenmont Jesuit Retreat House for Protestant and Eastern Orthodox ministers.

All who took part agreed the experiment was a success. In fact, some similar endeavors are planned for the future, perhaps as often as four times a year.

"There was no one involved in the retreat," said the Rev. Dr. Carlyle Adams, Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of Albany, "who did not believe that God's grace was at work and that whatever hopes any of us had placed in it had been realized far beyond our most sanguine expectations."

Leader of the retreat was The Rev. Gustave Weigel, S. J., professor of ecclesiology at Wodstock College, Md., and a consultant to the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The ministers who attended represented the American Baptist Convention, the United Church of Christ, the Protestant Episcopal Church, United Lutheran Church in America, Missouri Synod Lutheran Church, Methodist Church, United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., Reformed Church in America and the Greek and Syrian Orthodox Churches.

The idea originated last August when Dr. Adams discussed the possibility with The Rev. Philip B. Carroll, S. J., director of the retreat house.

Dr. Adams describes himself as "a very positive Protestant," but one whose friendship with Catholics dates back to his boyhood when an Xaverian Brother was his Boy Scout leader.

NEW YORK (AP)—Television now has come to the end of another season remarkable for its lack of new, interesting women stars.

There have been, of course, many women performers, even stars on the home screens. But most of them played nice, normal upper middle class normal housewives with commuter husbands and carefully assorted children.

Shirley Booth, the season's biggest feminine name, plays a maid. As series guest stars, the ladies largely have appeared as alcoholics, narcotics addicts, or as victims of blackmail and murder threats.

Next year, things don't promise to be any better. Lucille Ball will be back—as a man-hunting widow, and Loretta Young (who cut quite an elegant figure when she had her anthology dramatic series) will return as a widow—with seven children.

TODAY In History

Today is Friday, June 29th, the 180th day of 1962. There are 185 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1855, Great Britain repealed a penny tax on newspapers. This marked the beginning of the modern free press in England.

On this date—In 1776, Virginia adopted a state constitution.

In 1852, Henry Clay died in Washington at the age of 75.

In 1917 General Allenby assumed command of British troops in Palestine.

In 1927, Commander Richard Byrd left New York on his transatlantic flight.

In 1954, a cease-fire was arranged in Guatemala.

Today's birthdays: Singer Nelson Eddy is 61 years old. Actor Ed Gardner is 57.

Thought for today: He that complies against his will is of his own opinions still—Samuel Butler.

World's Fair Labels Saturday as Ohio Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans who happen to be in Seattle Saturday can expect some special consideration. Saturday will be "Ohio Day" at the World's Fair. The Buckeye State will be represented by General Manager Rowland Bishop of the Ohio Expositions Commission and Ralph Cooley, a commission member.

Red Cross Unit Has Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross was held Wednesday evening at Wardell's Party Home. The business meeting, conducted by Everett Beers, consisted of annual reports of officers and services.

The treasurer reported total income for the year 1961-1962 as $16,667.20 and expenditures, $16,401.34. Home service report revealed that a total of 157 different families have received service during the year, many of these requiring assistance several times.

The chapter office has made 35 health and welfare reports for servicemen and their families; 36 requests for emergency leave or extension of leave; assisted with eight requests for hardship discharge or transfer; answered 12 requests for information from the military and Veterans Administration; and has given miscellaneous assistance and counseling in 111 cases.

Home service loans have been made in the amount of $1852.09 to 32 families and grants to 17 families totaled $563.39.

Total blood collections for the year were 1,071 pints, including special donations made at Berger Hospital and Columbus hospitals. Special commendation was expressed to Ed Grigg, last year's Blood Program chairman and Robert Johnson, who heads the program this year, for the excellent improvement in the program, and to the Rotary Club, which sponsors the project.

In the field of First Aid and Water Safety, twelve First Aid classes were held with 97 participants. Don Collins, water safety chairman, reported that more than 750 children and adults took part in last summer's swimming program and probably a greater number will take advantage of the opportunity this summer.

Mary Susa and Sandy Smith are directing the program, with Lois Burtner, who has just returned after receiving her instructorship at National Aquatic school, assisting at the Ashville pool. Mr. Collins also outlined plans for a safety demonstration later in the summer at his own farm pond.

A GROUP of registered nurses are assisting with training of classes in Home Nursing, two classes having been held the past year.

A group of high school girls who received the training have made their own uniforms and have started working as volunteers at Berger Hospital.

Disaster Services are moving ahead with plans for community wide plans in cooperation with the city and county Civil Defense agency.

The Volunteer Services program, with Mrs. Boyd Stout as chairman, contributed many hours and many items for the benefit and enjoyment of patients at the VA Hospital, Chillicothe. Those present gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Lewis Dean who has given some 350 hours of service as a Gray Lady at the hospital.

Board members elected for the coming three-year term are: Mrs. Wells Wilson, Pickaway Township; Mrs. Clarence Clark, Deercreek Township; Don Collins, Walnut Township; James Sealock, Scioto Township and city representatives George Meyers, Paul Smallwood, Mrs. Walter Heine, and Paul Adams.

New fiscal officers are: Dr. Robert G. Smith, chairman; Robert Conway, vice chairman; Mrs. Clarence Clark, secretary, and George Meyers, treasurer.

KEITH Wagner, plant supervisor of the General Telephone Company and Charles Saffell, of the Marion office of the phone company, gave a demonstration of the "Resusc-Airline", a mannequin now used for the teaching of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. All those present were given an opportunity to practice the technique.

Mr. Saffell is a Red Cross instructor - trainer for the Marion County Chapter and is making appearances for purposes of public information regarding this method of artificial respiration. The life-sized doll is the property of the phone company and is available for demonstration to interested groups.

Present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moeller, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stout, Dr. and Mrs. Wells Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Meyers, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Lewis Dean, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. Forrest Hopkins, Don Collins, Keith Wagner, Charles Saffell and Mrs. Roloff Wood.

New Purifier Now Provides Water Supply Free of Germs

A resident of Haledon, N. J., fills a bottle with water from the town's favorite spring where one of the new purifiers was installed. Local legend credits the spring's water with contributing to longevity.

By MARIAN PFROMMER
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Scientists have developed a new water purifier for the home, designed not only to kill harmful bacteria, but also to eliminate unpleasant odors and tastes in drinking water.

The unit, called Ultradion, is a product of the Ultra Dynamics Corporation of Thornwood, N. Y. Employing ultra-violet radiation, the device is reportedly able to kill every water-borne germ and virus known to modern science.

Laboratory researchers have determined the amount of ultra-radiation needed to kill harmful water-borne bacteria. They have found that 4,100 ultrads (units of ultraradiation) are required to kill typhoid; 4,000 to kill bacterial dysentery; 6,500 to kill cholera and 6,000 to kill infectious jaundice and polio.

The new purifier provides a dosage of 30,000 ultrads in its sanitation process, leaving a great margin of safety to assure that all contamination will be eliminated.

Two built-in ultra-violet lamps purify the water. No chemicals are added. Thus natural flavor is retained and the water acquires none of the unpleasant odors or tastes often associated with chemical treatment.

Thoroughly tested before its introduction to the public, the new process meets the water purification standards set by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The new purifiers are being made for private, municipal and industrial use. The home unit, selling for $350, can purify 500 gallons of water in an hour. Stored in a compact metal cabinet, the unit weighs 65 pounds and 36 inches long by 12 1/2 inches high.

The purifier is linked into the home's water supply, after all devices such as the pump and filter and before its point of first use. If operated for 24 hours a day over an entire month the device would use only about $1.10 worth of electricity.

The effectiveness of the purifier in municipal use was recently demonstrated in the town of Haledon, N. J., when a town spring, noted for its cool, fresh-tasting water, became contaminated.

The contamination was particularly upsetting to local residents because, according to a local legend, the spring's water contributes to longevity.

The Haledon town fathers decided to install one of the new purifiers. The contamination was ended and now, once again, the Haledon residents are sipping the spring's cool, "life prolonging" water.

The purifiers are becoming especially popular in towns where flooding frequently occurs. The device's ability to purify water quickly and effectively appeals to these communities, whose residents have often been faced with the problem of contamination.

Industries are also turning to the purifiers. Many U. S. pharmaceutical houses, soft drink bottling companies and even a large passenger vessel are among those already using the new ultra-violet process.

Wife Preserver

Fruit pies enjoy a new flavor with a topping made from whipped cream into which cheese and a little salt have been blended.

When you are planning to broil flank steak, before cooking you may want to pound the meat with the edge of a heavy saucer across the grain of the meat. This pounding will break the fibers and help make the meat tender. Two other aids to tenderness: a very short broiling time and carving in thin diagonal slices.

Hill Garden To Be Setting For Daughter's Wedding

Miss Alice Lou Hill, bride-elect of Mr. Ewing A. Giffin, has completed plans for her open wedding Sunday at 6:30 p. m. in the garden of the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Loring E. Hill, Kingston.

The Reverend Robert Dulaney, pastor of Mt. Pleasant Presbyterian Church, Kingston, will perform the double ring ceremony. Mr. Bill Rihl will present a program of musical music and Mr. Cut Gifford will be the vocalist.

Maid of honor will be Miss Suzanne Arnold, Troy, a sorority sister. Bridesmaids will be Miss Roberta Booth, Columbus, Mrs. A. Philip Gay and Miss Judy Hill, sisters of the bride. Miss Carol Hill will be junior bridesmaid and Miss Theresa Jane Hill will be the flower girl.

Mr. Calvin J. Giffin, brother of the groom will serve as best man. Mr. David Grum, Bellaire, Mr. Philip Gay, Columbus, Mr. Ken Hoot, Columbus, Mr. Dan Greenlee, Woodsfield, Mr. Roger Hill, Columbus and Mr. Darl Hoffman, Columbus, will be the ushers. Master Dale Hill will serve as ring bearer.

A reception will be held on the patio of the Hill home following the ceremony and hostesses will be

Mrs. Ronald Eldridge, Circleville, Miss Beth Westerburg, Lancaster, Mrs. Dave Grum, Bellaire, Miss Jean Dorn, Columbus, Miss June Young, Columbus, Miss Alverna Rinehart, South Bloomfield, Miss Hazel Keller, Columbus, Mrs. David Johnston, Columbus, and Mrs. Earl Hoffman, Columbus.

Following the wedding rehearsal Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Carl Giffin, parents of the groom, will entertain the bridal party at Pickaway Arms.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren Pamper Him, Dear

Here's how to make your home hair set last longer. Use a spray-and-wait outline. Remove the rollers from your hair and sweep it lightly with hair spray, holding the can 12 to 14 inches away. Wait half an hour before combing out. Your hair will not only have more body set, but will last longer.

Clean your ceramic tile this easy way! Just mix two parts of liquid detergent and three parts of household vinegar. Dip an old toothbrush into this solution and scrub the tile, especially the putty between the blocks.

Let down the hems of small clothes before laundering them at the end of a season, so that you can lengthen them with no telltale scuff line along the old crease next year.

If you ever say, "I haven't done a thing I wanted to all day," here's how to do it. Keep a treasure chest of things you would like to do and materials with which to do them. Vary them to suit your mood. Keep directions for a hair-do you'd like to try, a pocket book you want to read, or a list of people you mean to call. You'll find you do some of the things you want to do in unplanned moments this way.

Follow two safety rules for selecting toys for babies and youngsters, and you'll have little to worry about. Make sure it's larger than the child's fist. Anything smaller is too easy to swallow. Also make sure that there's nothing sharp on it to cut or scratch. Some of the softest toys have sharp points.

Cover green peppers with boiling water and boil three to five minutes before stuffing and baking.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is retired. At first there was a lot to do, but after a couple of years boredom set in. Then he took up a hobby. Painting by numbers. At first I was relieved because he was no longer underfoot, nagging me. Now his painting has gotten out of hand. He has cluttered up my whole home with his terrible art. He has even taken carefully selected paintings out of their frames and put HIS number paintings on them. I love nature and scenery but he likes buildings, monuments and bridges. Our friends encourage him yet none of them will put his junk in THEIR homes. Tell me what to do.

IN DESPAIR
DEAR IN DESPAIR: Believe me, there are worse hobbies. Let him cover the walls with his number paintings. It's only a matter of time before all our numbers come up.

DEAR ABBY: There is a real doll in our town who just came home from college. He bought himself a second-hand HEARSE and is driving it all over town. He attracts a lot of attention with his funeral wagon and everyone thinks it's a real cool idea. My father thinks I'm stupid to go out with him when he drives this car, but I don't see anything wrong with it. I'd like your advice, Abby.

DEAR PRISBY: Your college friend must think the girls are dying to ride with him. Wheels are wheels and as long as the driver is sane and sober, what's the harm?

DEAR ABBY: If a woman ever writes in and asks if she should remarry a man she once divorced, please tell her NOT TO!

Once a man has treated a woman like a dog, he'll never treat her like a human being again. I know. I took my husband back after we had been legally divorced because my minister, his family, my family and all our friends told me it would be better for the children. Believe me, they don't have to live with him.

I CRIED A RIVER

DEAR ABBY: People who can't sleep in the same room with someone who snores must be nuts. I've been married to a snorer for 26 years and now it's gotten so that I can't fall asleep until he starts snoring.

New Purifier Now Provides Water Supply Free of Germs

A resident of Haledon, N. J., fills a bottle with water from the town's favorite spring where one of the new purifiers was installed. Local legend credits the spring's water with contributing to longevity.

By MARIAN PFROMMER
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Scientists have developed a new water purifier for the home, designed not only to kill harmful bacteria, but also to eliminate unpleasant odors and tastes in drinking water.

The unit, called Ultradion, is a product of the Ultra Dynamics Corporation of Thornwood, N. Y. Employing ultra-violet radiation, the device is reportedly able to kill every water-borne germ and virus known to modern science.

Laboratory researchers have determined the amount of ultra-radiation needed to kill harmful water-borne bacteria. They have found that 4,100 ultrads (units of ultraradiation) are required to kill typhoid; 4,000 to kill bacterial dysentery; 6,500 to kill cholera and 6,000 to kill infectious jaundice and polio.

The new purifier provides a dosage of 30,000 ultrads in its sanitation process, leaving a great margin of safety to assure that all contamination will be eliminated.

Two built-in ultra-violet lamps purify the water. No chemicals are added. Thus natural flavor is retained and the water acquires none of the unpleasant odors or tastes often associated with chemical treatment.

Thoroughly tested before its introduction to the public, the new process meets the water purification standards set by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The new purifiers are being made for private, municipal and industrial use. The home unit, selling for $350, can purify 500 gallons of water in an hour. Stored in a compact metal cabinet, the unit weighs 65 pounds and 36 inches long by 12 1/2 inches high.

The purifier is linked into the home's water supply, after all devices such as the pump and filter and before its point of first use. If operated for 24 hours a day over an entire month the device would use only about $1.10 worth of electricity.

The effectiveness of the purifier in municipal use was recently demonstrated in the town of Haledon, N. J., when a town spring, noted for its cool, fresh-tasting water, became contaminated.

The contamination was particularly upsetting to local residents because, according to a local legend, the spring's water contributes to longevity.

The Haledon town fathers decided to install one of the new purifiers. The contamination was ended and now, once again, the Haledon residents are sipping the spring's cool, "life prolonging" water.

The purifiers are becoming especially popular in towns where flooding frequently occurs. The device's ability to purify water quickly and effectively appeals to these communities, whose residents have often been faced with the problem of contamination.

Industries are also turning to the purifiers. Many U. S. pharmaceutical houses, soft drink bottling companies and even a large passenger vessel are among those already using the new ultra-violet process.

Tynwald Ceremony Comes Each July 5

Manx officials gathered on the Hill for Tynwald ceremony.

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Atop Tynwald Hill at the very center of the island kingdom of Man, the oldest political ceremonies in the world are enacted each July 5.

Tynwald, the Manx parliament, on that day meets in the open to publicly proclaim the laws of the island enacted during the previous year just as it has done annually with few exceptions for a millennium.

To tourists the picturesque ceremony is symbolic of the Viking influences which permeate the island. To the Manx it is the most powerful and visible reminder that the Isle of Man is an ancient kingdom — now one of the British Isles yet still separate from the United Kingdom—enjoying its own government making its own laws and levying its own taxes.

Time has changed the Tynwald ceremony only a little since its beginning 10 centuries ago when King Orry or Gorse, a Norse chieftain conquered Mona.

Bloodthirsty and cruel the Vikings were, but they were extraordinary lawmakers. Wherever they settled they brought the conception of an open-air assembly of free men where old laws were recited new laws submitted for approval, judgment given on law-breakers punishment meted out, and personal grievances aired.

The Tynwald of today follows closely the proceedings of 1,000 years ago when King Orry, following religious rites, sat on the top-most level of the hill facing the east surrounded by his barons and officers, his freeholders and coroners, and dispensed justice.

The hill was built from earth from the 17 parishes of the island and is 12 feet high, its base measuring 76 feet. It is probably the burial place of a Bronze Age chieftain which later became a center for tribal gatherings.

To the hill on each Old Midsummer's Day comes the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man surrounded by a guard of honor preceded by the 13th century Sword of State. He is accompanied by the clergy, captains of the parishes, coroners and representatives of the towns.

They assemble in the parish Church of St. John's where a short service is conducted before participants march along the 360-foot Processional Way to the hill.

The lieutenant-governor sits on the summit "with his visage toward the east" in a chair covered by a royal cloth and cushions.

At his side is the bishop of Sodor and Man, the one remaining ecclesiastical baron, and the rest of the legislative council; the two Manx judges, two members nominated by the lieutenant-governor and four elected by the House of Keys, the equivalent of the House of Commons.

The 24 members of the elected House of Keys are on the second tier and below them are the high bailiff, the vicar-general, the heads of local authorities the clergy. On the bottom tier sit the captains of the parishes who were once commanders of the militia companies. Standing at the foot of the hill are the coroners and officials of court.

The coroner of Glenfaba then "fences" the Tynwald announcing the Tynwald is in session. The coroners offer their batons of office to the governor and, unless they are retiring, are re-sworn into office.

The new acts of the Man Parliament, passed during the preceding year, are read in English and in Manx by a Manx scholar.

One aspect of the present-day Tynwald, almost as surprising as the very survival of the ancient open-air assembly, is the enduring racial consistency of those who take part in the ceremony.

Of the legislative council, keys, parish captains and coroners, nearly 80 per cent have native names found in Man four or five centuries ago.

Campaign Trail Faces Kennedy

He Says He Needs Working Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy may have to hit the campaign trail hard if he expects to win in November the working majority he concedes he now lacks in Congress.

In words somewhat more severe than he has employed before, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that a share of the blame for the roadblocks his program has encountered in the House rests on some Democrats who have been voting with Republicans for 25 years.

Kennedy's specific mention of 1938 as the inaugural date for the enduring Southern Democrat-Republican coalition pointed the finger at a select group among 19 House members who have been in Congress that long or longer.

Excluding the Republicans, Kennedy could count only a few—such as Reps. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., William M. Colmer, D-Miss., and Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala.—among the implacable opposition.

But the historical-minded President obviously was talking about the far wider range of conservatives who have been elected in the South—and who now deny him a working majority on his controversial bills.

Kennedy appeared to believe that to overcome this coalition the Democrats would have to win a bare minimum of six additional administration supporters in a House that now is divided 263-174 in favor of Democrats over Republicans.

This will take some doing in an off-year election, since the party in control of the White House has lost ground in every such contest since 1934.

With Republicans showing signs of resurgence Kennedy will have to prove on the campaign trail that he can rub some of his reputed high popularity off on some acceptable Democratic candidates.

New Attack on Alcoholism

Science Trying To Unravel Mysteries of Drunkenness

EDITOR'S NOTE—Science has yet to unravel the dark mystery which lies in the body or in the soul of an alcoholic, demanding drink. But small advances in knowledge are being made. This last in a series describing the modern attack on alcoholism reports these advances and lists some helpful do's and don'ts.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

At 3 a.m., in a fuzzy voice, the young man telephoned a doctor he'd never met, asking for an appointment.

He burst into the office early in the morning, demanding "some of those pills to keep me from drinking. I've got to stay sober the next few days—very important."

There is an anti-drinking drug, but it's no magic powder-in-the-coffee affair.

This drug is disulfiram (trade name antabuse). It is completely harmless, until a person drinks any alcohol. Then he becomes violently ill.

It acts as a chemical fence reinforcing the alcoholic's determination not to drink. It must be prescribed and guided by a physician, for otherwise reactions could be disastrous. The alcoholic must know that he's taking it, and what it will do. It wasn't the easy answer for the young man, except so far as it marked a start toward real desire to stop drinking.

The road back from alcoholism is tortuous and difficult, but much can be done medically and psychologically, explains Dr. Ruth Fox, medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

A first step is restoration of good health and diet. The alcoholic often has liver, nerve or other damage.

He may need hospital care for a time. Tranquilizing drugs now can help him sleep or handle mood swings and anxiety.

Clergymen increasingly are helping alcoholics find and follow useful, sober new lives.

Hypnosis, in the hands of trained physicians, can assist alcoholics to relax and handle tensions, Dr. Fox says.

All treatments, the physician points out, have a common goal: Understanding and reinforcing the need for total abstinence, of life without drink.

The downfall of the alcoholic has been blamed on faulty or lazy glands, or lack of certain vitamins, and other biochemical upsets. But simply replacing the missing chemicals has proved disappointing in treating or preventing alcoholism, Dr. Fox says. Social and family attitudes are still roadblocks in dealing with alcoholism, says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Too many people still attach a social stigma to alcoholism, as was once done with epilepsy and TB. There are still people in key places who don't recognize it as a sickness."

For guidance of wives, husbands and children of alcoholics, Mrs. Mann and other authorities list some do's and don'ts:

Don't plead, don't censure, don't nag the alcoholic.

And when the alcoholic slips, don't tearfully exclaim, "If you loved me, you wouldn't do this to me." The alcoholic usually feels enough remorse and guilt already.

Don't try to hide liquor or take it away, or cut off his money. Don't just get angry. Don't call him a moral weakling.

Do try to understand alcoholism as a sickness, and discuss it and any episodes calmly. Do understand the alcoholic is not unlike the diabetic to whom sugar is a poison.

Do set teen-agers a good example. Do get the facts on alcoholism, from doctors, from AA, from Al-Anon or Alateen, alcoholism information centers and other authoritative sources.

Women's Clubs Seek Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs voted today to work for a constitutional amendment to allow voluntary nondenominational religious observances in schools.

The action came by voice vote, with only a few noes heard. Among the 1,285 delegates to the convention.

The women turned down an amendment to the religious observance resolution which would have protested this week's decision of the Supreme Court against official prayers in public schools.

Sunspots in 1960 caused one of the worst worldwide communications blackouts in recent years. For days the United States was shut off from most of Europe and the Far East.

WE'RE UNDERWAY...

STARTING TO BUILD A BETTER, SAFER ROAD FOR YOU AND YOUR LOVED ONES

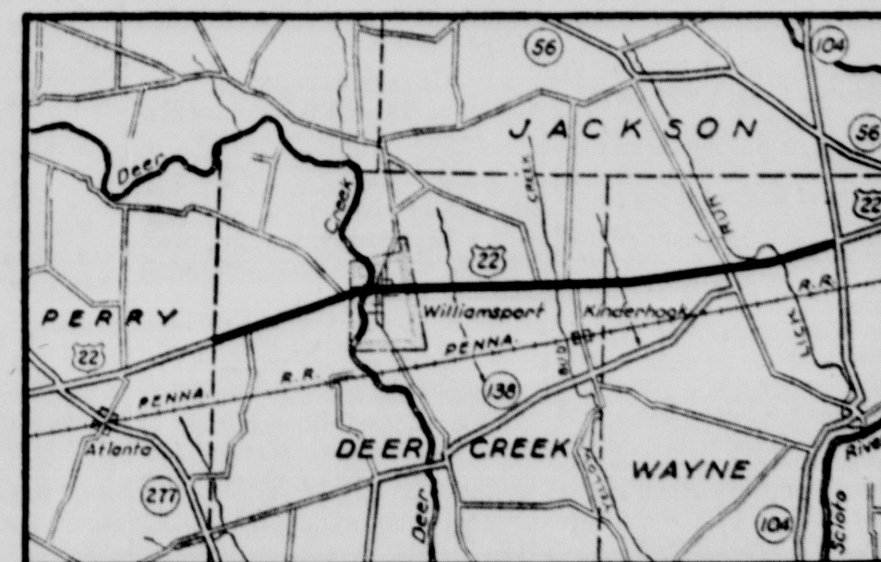

There are signs all around us of the great highway construction program going on across the nation! Started in 1956, the system of Interstate and Defense Highways has already begun to make itself felt in our economy... whether in the speeding of goods and commercial vehicles or in taking some of the strain out of a vacation drive. Not only will

Our big highway construction program generates millions of man-hours of work every year. In fact, the construction industry is the largest in our entire economy.

Another vital link of the highway program that helps keep Ohio's agricultural, industrial and public transportation moving is the primary and secondary road system. Tynwald Ceremony Comes Each July 5

Manx officials gathered on the Hill for Tynwald ceremony.

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Atop Tynwald Hill at the very center of the island kingdom of Man, the oldest political ceremonies in the world are enacted each July 5.

Tynwald, the Manx parliament, on that day meets in the open to publicly proclaim the laws of the island enacted during the previous year just as it has done annually with few exceptions for a millennium.

To tourists the picturesque ceremony is symbolic of the Viking influences which permeate the island. To the Manx it is the most powerful and visible reminder that the Isle of Man is an ancient kingdom—now one of the British Isles yet still separate from the United Kingdom—enjoying its own government making its own laws and levying its own taxes.

Time has changed the Tynwald ceremony only a little since its beginning 10 centuries ago when King Orry or Gorse, a Norse chieftain conquered Mona.

Bloodthirsty and cruel the Vikings were, but they were extraordinary lawmakers. Wherever they settled they brought the conception of an open-air assembly of free men where old laws were recited new laws submitted for approval, judgment given on law-breakers punishment meted out, and personal grievances aired.

The Tynwald of today follows closely the proceedings of 1,000 years ago when King Orry, following religious rites, sat on the top-most level of the hill facing the east surrounded by his barons and officers, his freeholders and coroners, and dispensed justice.

The hill was built from earth from the 17 parishes of the island and is 12 feet high, its base measuring 76 feet. It is probably the burial place of a Bronze Age chieftain which later became a center for tribal gatherings.

To the hill on each Old Midsummer's Day comes the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man surrounded by a guard of honor preceded by the 13th century Sword of State. He is accompanied by the clergy, captains of the parishes, coroners and representatives of the towns.

They assemble in the parish Church of St. John's where a short service is conducted before participants march along the 360-foot Processional Way to the hill.

The lieutenant-governor sits on the summit "with his visage toward the east" in a chair covered by a royal cloth and cushions.

At his side is the bishop of Sodor and Man, the one remaining ecclesiastical baron, and the rest of the legislative council; the two Manx judges, two members nominated by the lieutenant-governor and four elected by the House of Keys, the equivalent of the British House of Commons.

The 24 members of the elected House of Keys are on the second tier and below them are the high bailiff, the vicar-general, the heads of local authorities the clergy. On the bottom tier sit the captains of the parishes who were once commanders of the militia companies. Standing at the foot of the hill are the coroners and officials of court.

The coroner of Glenfaba then "fences" the Tynwald announcing the Tynwald is in session. The coroners offer their batons of office to the governor and, unless they are retiring, are re-sworn into office.

The new acts of the Man Parliament, passed during the preceding year, are read in English and in Manx by a Manx scholar.

One aspect of the present-day Tynwald, almost as surprising as the very survival of the ancient open-air assembly, is the enduring racial consistency of those who take part in the ceremony.

Of the legislative council, keys, parish captains and coroners, nearly 80 per cent have native names found in Man four or five centuries ago.

Campaign Trail Faces Kennedy

He Says He Needs Working Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy may have to hit the campaign trail hard if he expects to win in November the working majority he concedes he now lacks in Congress.

In words somewhat more severe than he has employed before, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that a share of the blame for the roadblocks his program has encountered in the House rests on some Democrats who have been voting with Republicans for 25 years.

Kennedy's specific mention of 1938 as the inaugural date for the enduring Southern Democrat-Republican coalition pointed the finger at a select group among 19 House members who have been in Congress that long or longer.

Excluding the Republicans, Kennedy could count only a few—such as Reps. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., William M. Colmer, D-Miss., and Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala.—among the implacable opposition.

But the historical-minded President obviously was talking about the far wider range of conservatives who have been elected in the South—and who now deny him a working majority on his controversial bills.

Kennedy appeared to believe that to overcome this coalition the Democrats would have to win a bare minimum of six additional administration supporters in a House that now is divided 263-174 in favor of Democrats over Republicans.

This will take some doing in an off-year election, since the party in control of the White House has lost ground in every such contest since 1934.

With Republicans showing signs of resurgence Kennedy will have to prove on the campaign trail that he can rub some of his reputed high popularity off on some acceptable Democratic candidates.

New Attack on Alcoholism

Science Trying To Unravel Mysteries of Drunkenness

EDITOR'S NOTE—Science has yet to unravel the dark mystery which lies in the body or in the soul of an alcoholic, demanding drink. But small advances in knowledge are being made. This last in a series describing the modern attack on alcoholism reports these advances and lists some helpful do's and don'ts.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

At 3 a.m., in a fuzzy voice, the young man telephoned a doctor he'd never met, asking for an appointment.

He burst into the office early in the morning, demanding "some of those pills to keep me from drinking. I've got to stay sober the next few days—very important."

There is an anti-drinking drug, but it's no magic powder-in-the-coffee affair.

This drug is disulfiram (trade-name antabuse). It is completely harmless, until a person drinks any alcohol. Then he becomes violently ill.

It acts as a chemical fence reinforcing the alcoholic's determination not to drink. It must be prescribed and guided by a physician, for otherwise reactions could be disastrous. The alcoholic must know that he's taking it, and what it will do. It wasn't the easy answer for the young man, except so far as it marked a start toward real desire to stop drinking.

The road back from alcoholism is tortuous and difficult, but much can be done medically and psychologically, explains Dr. Ruth Fox, medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

A first step is restoration of good health and diet. The alcoholic often has liver, nerve or other damage.

He may need hospital care for a time. Tranquilizing drugs now can help him sleep, or handle mood swings and anxiety.

Clergymen increasingly are helping alcoholics find and follow useful, sober new lives.

Hypnosis, in the hands of trained physicians, can assist alcoholics to relax and handle tensions, Dr. Fox says.

All treatments, the physician points out, have a common goal: Understanding and reinforcing the need for total abstinence, of life without drink.

The downfall of the alcoholic has been blamed on faulty or lazy glands, or lack of certain vitamins, and other biochemical upsets. But simply replacing the missing chemicals has proved disappointing in treating or preventing alcoholism, Dr. Fox says. Social and family attitudes are still roadblocks in dealing with alcoholism, says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Too many people still attach a social stigma to alcoholism, as was once done with epilepsy and TB. There are still people in key places who don't recognize it as a sickness."

For guidance of wives, husbands and children of alcoholics, Mrs. Mann and other authorities list some do's and don'ts:

Don't plead, don't censure, don't nag the alcoholic.

And when the alcoholic slips, don't tearfully exclaim, "If you loved me, you wouldn't do this to me." The alcoholic usually feels enough remorse and guilt already.

Don't try to hide liquor or take it away, or cut off his money. Don't just get angry. Don't call him a moral weakling.

Do try to understand alcoholism as a sickness, and discuss it and any episodes calmly. Do understand the alcoholic is not unlike the diabetic to whom sugar is a poison.

Do set teen-agers a good example.

Do get the facts on alcoholism from doctors, from AA, from Al-Anon or Alateen, alcoholism information centers and other authoritative sources.

Women's Clubs Seek Amendment

The action came by voice vote, with only a few noes heard. Among the 1,285 delegates to the convention.

The women turned down an amendment to the religious observance resolution which would have protested this week's decision of the Supreme Court against official prayers in public schools.

c'mon... put it over the plate

You are witnessing one of the frustrations in Ted's life. Like his namesake, the Red Sox slugger, Ted likes to tag a good fast ball and send it over the fence. But, today, our batting-practice pitcher just can't seem to find the plate.

Another frustration in Ted's life will occur next Sunday morning. Like every American youngster Ted needs religious training. But Ted's parents, who should be offering him opportunity and encouragement in spiritual growth, can't seem to find the Church.

Our children deserve the full spiritual opportunity which our free heritage has preserved for them. Today it is their turn to develop the power with which God endowed them. And our assignment, like the batting-practice pitcher's, is to offer them our best... and not lost control.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

c'mon... put it over the plate

You are witnessing one of the frustrations in Ted's life. Like his namesake, the Red Sox slugger, Ted likes to tag a good fast ball and send it over the fence. But, today, our batting-practice pitcher just can't seem to find the plate.

Another frustration in Ted's life will occur next Sunday morning. Like every American youngster Ted needs religious training. But Ted's parents, who should be offering him opportunity and encouragement in spiritual growth, can't seem to find the Church.

Our children deserve the full spiritual opportunity which our free heritage has preserved for them. Today it is their turn to develop the power with which God endowed them. And our assignment, like the batting-practice pitcher's, is to offer them our best... and not lost control.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Josiah's Reforms

HOW THE COURAGE AND CONVICTION OF A YOUNG KING TRANSFORMED AN ENTIRE NATION

Scripture—II Kings 22, 23.

By N. SPEER JONES
 WITH THIS lesson we begin the third quarter of the year's lessons, one devoted to "Later Hebrew History and Prophecy." The passages assigned portray one of the most remarkable reigns in history, that of Josiah, king of Judah from 638 to 608 B.C.

Josiah was the son of King Amon and grandson of the infamous King Manasseh, who ruled some 55 years, filling the country with evil. He rebuilt the pagan temples which his father, Hezekiah, had destroyed; they encouraged all sorts of idolatry, sensuality and corruption in religion. He went so far as to burn his own son as an offering (II Kings 21:1-6).

Amon succeeded him, following in his father's evil ways to such an extent that his own servants murdered him in the

as offerings to a god named Moloch. The reign of Josiah is also described in II Chronicles 34-35, where a more complete explanation of his death is given (II Chron. 35:20-24). Neco, Egyptian pharaoh, set out to destroy the Assyrians, sailing eastward and landing probably at Acco, he had to cross the plain of Jezreel and the Jordan.

In Josiah's eyes, this was holy ground, and he took his feeble army out against Neco's hosts for this reason, even after Neco declared his peaceful intent toward him. Jeremiah also tried to dissuade him. Josiah's fatal encounter preceded the great battle of Carchemish, in which Neco was defeated by the young Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, ending Egypt's attempts to control the fertile crescent. Josiah was killed in 608 B.C., and 22 years later the wrath of God descended, as promised, in the destruction of Jerusalem through this very Nebuchadnezzar.

second year of his reign (II Kings 21:21-23). How Josiah emerged as such a righteous person from such a background is difficult to imagine. At any rate, the boy ascended the throne at eight, and apparently took over actual charge of this kingdom's affairs at 12.

It was probably in this year that he instituted a voluntary collection of funds from his people to rebuild the desecrated temple. It had been nearly 250 years since it had undergone major rejuvenation.

Six years later Josiah set his reconstruction program in motion. It was in the process of these temple repairs that the hidden "Book of the Law" was discovered by the high priest.

This Book of the Law was probably the Pentateuch, i.e., the first five books of the Bible; it was at least the so-called Book of the Covenant, the early chapters of Deuteronomy. It was probably the one placed beside the Ark of the Covenant

HOW THE COURAGE AND CONVICTION OF A YOUNG KING TRANSFORMED AN ENTIRE NATION

Scripture—II Kings 22, 23.

By N. SPEER JONES
WITH THIS lesson we begin the third quarter of the year's lessons, one devoted to "Later Hebrew History and Prophecy."

The passages assigned portray one of the most remarkable reigns in history, that of Josiah, king of Judah from 638 to 608 B.C.

Josiah was the son of King Amon and grandson of the famous King Manasseh, who ruled some 55 years, filling the country with evil. He rebuilt the pagan temples which his father, Hezekiah, had destroyed; they encouraged all sorts of idolatry, sensuality and corruption in religion. He went so far as to burn his own son as an offering (II Kings 21:5-6).

Amon succeeded him, following in his father's evil ways to such an extent that his own servants murdered him in the

by Moses (Deuteronomy 31:26), and later hidden for preservation.

Thus began one of the great- est revivals in history. [For others in Biblical times, see Genesis 35:1-15 (Jacob's); II Chronicles 15:1-15 (King Asa's); II Chron. 23, 24 (Jeho- ash's); II Chron. 29-31 (Heze- kiah's); Jonah 3 (that in Nine- veh); Ezra 5, 6 (Zerubbabel's); Nehemiah 8, 9; John 4:1-42; Acts 2, and Acts 19:1-20.]

Of the many idols and altars destroyed by Josiah, we may say briefly that the worship of Baal was the most widespread paganism of the ancients; that Asherah was a fertility goddess, whose worship involved immoral practices; that the "host of heaven" refers to star worship, including the Zodiac; that the "pillar" was a symbol in the worship of Astarte; that Tophet was a burning cauldron into which children were flung second year of his reign (II Kings 21:21-23).

How Josiah emerged as such a righteous person from such a background is difficult to imagine. At any rate, the boy ascended the throne at eight, and apparently took over actual charge of this kingdom's af- fairs at 12.

It was probably in this year that he instituted a voluntary collection of funds from his people to rebuild the desecrated temple. It had been nearly 250 years since it had undergone major rejuvenation.

Six years later Josiah set his reconstruction program in motion. It was in the process of these temple repairs that the hidden "Book of the Law" was discovered by the high priest.

This Book of the Law was probably the Pentateuch, i.e., the first five books of the Bible; it was at least the so-called Book of the Covenant, the early chapters of Deuteronomy. It was probably the one placed be- side the Ark of the Covenant.

as offerings to a god named Moloch.

The reign of Josiah is also described in II Chronicles 34-35, where a more complete explana- tion of his death is given (II Chron. 35:20-24). Neco, Egypt- ian pharaoh, set out to destroy the Assyrians. Sailing eastward and landing probably at Acco, he had to cross the plain of Jezreel and the Jordan.

In Josiah's eyes, this was holy ground, and he took his feeble army out against Neco's hosts for this reason, even after Neco declared his peaceful in- tent toward him. Jeremiah also tried to dissuade him.

Josiah's fatal encounter pre- ceded the great battle of Car- chemish, in which Neco was de- feated by the young Nebuchad- nezzar of Babylon, ending Egypt's attempts to control the fertile crescent.

Josiah was killed in 608 B.C., and 22 years later the wrath of God descended, as promised, in the destruction of Jerusalem through this very Nebuchad- nezzar.

Ohio Church Residences Near Reality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The dream of Ohio Presbyterian churches for a retirement community in Southern Ohio is moving closer to reality.

Ohio Church Residences, Inc., of Columbus signed final papers Thursday with the Federal Housing Administration for two loans totaling $500,000 to be used for improvements and construction at Bristol Village in Waverly.

The village is the state's first large scale community plan for retirees. Located amid wooded and rolling foothills of the Alleghenies, the 323 frame and asbestos and shingle homes are owned and managed by Ohio Church Residences. The corporation is a non-profit organization formed by four Presbyterian churches — Boulevard Presbyterian of Columbus, First Presbyterian of Chillicothe, Second Presbyterian of Portsmouth and First Presbyterian of Waverly.

The half-million dollars from the federal government will go for improvements and a $250,000 activities building, which includes a health clinic and craft area.

The homes in the non-denominational community may be purchased by anyone 62 years of age or older. An admission committee reviews applications on the basis of age, church membership, health factors, background and finances.

The Rev. John R. Glenn, president of O. C. R., said he hoped that the homes on the 67 acre tract already leased would be ready for the first 50 families in early July. He added that the entire village should be filled by next spring.

The church group is offering the homes on a life time lease basis for $3,500 or on a number of monthly budget finance plans, the cheapest of which is $30 a month. Each home has a living room, bath and utility room, den and kitchen.

In addition to the 67-acre tract, the churches' board of trustees has accepted a seven acre tract from the city of Waverly. This will be used for the activities building.

Pickaway Grange

SCIOTO VALLEY GRANGE. Scioto Valley Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening with H. A. Bumgarner, worthy master, officiating.

July 15, at Tar Hollow State Park. Other announcements included an exchange program to be given August 8, at Mt. Pleasant Grange; August 14, Nebraska Grange will give the program at the SV Grange Hall.

Caldwell, Mrs. Fannie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Siegle, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bolender, Mr. and Mrs. L. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reiss, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Runkle and Mrs. Katherine Wright.

Apportionment In Ohio Hit by Court Action

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of Cincinnati's Charter Party asked U. S. District Court Thursday to have the 60-year-old Hanna Amendment thrown out as a basis for fixing representation in the Ohio Legislature.

A spokesman for the Charter Party—a city political party of liberal Republicans and Democrats—said the suit was based partly on a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision in Tennessee apportionment.

The suit asked for a speedy hearing by a three-judge court to be appointed by Judge Shackelford Miller Jr. of Louisville, chief judge of the Sixth Circuit Federal Appeals Court.

The group asked to have Ohio go back to the apportionment plan in the state constitution of 1851. This factor differs from similar suits filed in other districts which seek drafting of new formulas, the spokesman said.

The suit named as defendants the election boards of Adams, Brown, Clinton and Highland counties and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, State Auditor James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The suit attacked the Hanna Amendment as a violation of the U. S. Constitution. Under the amendment, each county has at least one representative in the Ohio House.

Freed U.S. Soldier Reveals Ordeal of Forced Marches

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. soldier released by Communist guerrillas told today of 35-hour forced marches during which his arms were bound and his captors led him with a rope around his neck.

Spec. 4 George F. Fryett Jr., 26, of Long Beach Calif., told a news conference he was exhibited in many villages during six months in Viet Cong captivity. He said he had to read Communist propaganda aloud at gun point four or five times a day.

Fryett, 26 pounds thinner than when he was captured on Christmas Eve, consulted with a U.S. intelligence agent before replying to questions from newsmen. He denied, as he has done before, that he cooperated in any way with the Viet Cong while he was held in the jungle.

Before allowing him to appear at the news conference, U.S. authorities apparently decided he revealed no secrets to his Communist captors and signed no United States. He said he knew nothing about a letter Communist broadcasters said he had written to his family criticizing U. S. support for the South Vietnamese government.

Fryett said the pair of sandals he had been wearing when captured had fallen apart because of constant exposure to water and marching. His feet were badly blistered.

The soldier said he tried to escape once by slipping into a river. He managed to loosen his hands while partially under water, he said, and pulled the rope around his neck loose. He then tried to swim away under water, but he was caught and bound tightly again.

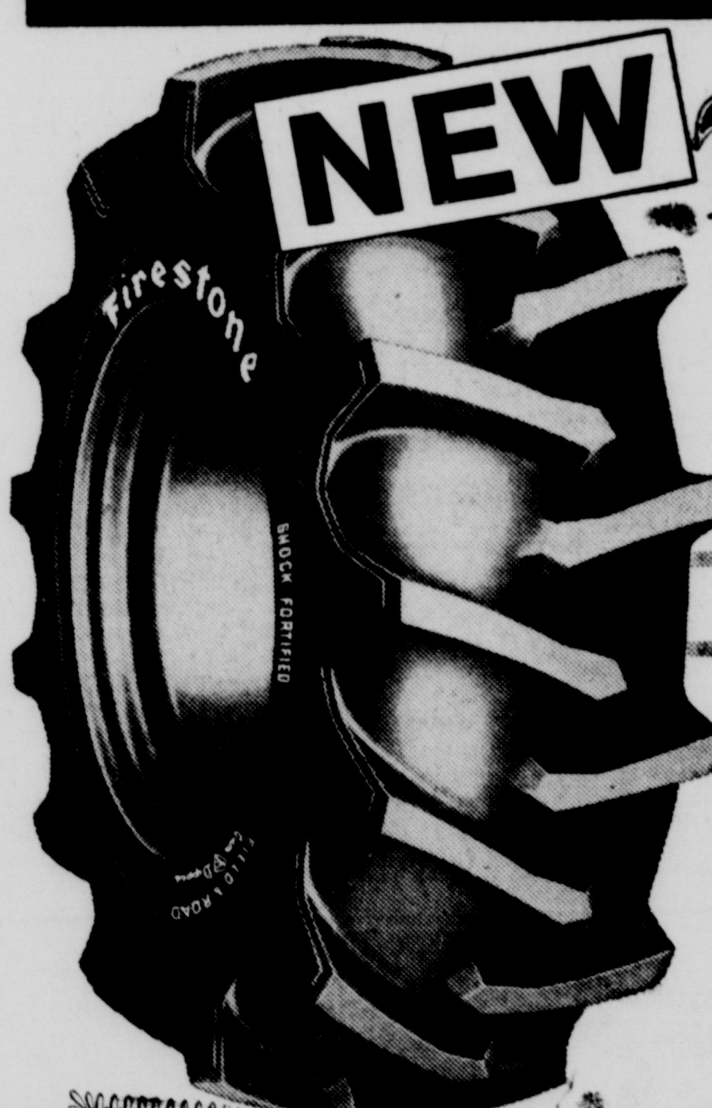

During his entire stay with the Viet Cong, Fryett said, he was kept at gun point by guards totaling from seven to 50 men.

Fryett was captured while riding a bicycle about 15 miles from Saigon. He was released last Sunday.

Ohio Church Residences Near Reality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The dream of Ohio Presbyterian churchmen for a retirement community in Southern Ohio is moving closer to reality.

Ohio Church Residences, Inc., of Columbus signed final papers Thursday with the Federal Housing Administration for two loans totaling $500,000 to be used for improvements and construction at Bristol Village in Waverly.

The village is the state's first large scale community plan for retirees. Located amid wooded and rolling foothills of the Alleghenies, the 323 frame and asbestos and shingle homes are owned and managed by Ohio Church Residences. The corporation is a non-profit organization formed by four Presbyterian churches — Boulevard Presbyterian of Columbus, First Presbyterian of Chillicothe, Second Presbyterian of Portsmouth and First Presbyterian of Waverly.

The half-million dollars from the federal government will go for improvements and a $250,000 activities building, which includes a health clinic and craft area.

The homes in the non-denominational community may be purchased by anyone 62 years of age or older. An admission committee reviews applications on the basis of age, church membership, health factors, background and finances.

The Rev. John R. Glenn, president of O. C. R., said he hoped that the homes on the 67 acre tract already leased would be ready for the first 50 families in early July. He added that the entire village should be filled by next spring.

The church group is offering the homes on a life time lease basis for $3,500 or on a number of monthly budget finance plans, the cheapest of which is $30 a month. Each home has a living room, bath and utility room, den and kitchen.

In addition to the 67-acre tract, the churches' board of trustees has accepted a seven acre tract from the city of Waverly. This will be used for the activities building.

Bloody but Uninjured

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Donald C. Wooten of Cincinnati appeared to be covered with blood when she stepped from her wrecked station wagon after it was involved in a collision recently. She insisted she hadn't been injured.

Ambulance attendants insisted that they take her to a hospital until Mrs. Wooten explained that several jars of catsup had broken during the collision.

Apportionment In Ohio Hit by Court Action

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of Cincinnati's Charter Party asked U. S. District Court Thursday to have the 60-year-old Hanna Amendment thrown out as a basis for fixing representation in the Ohio Legislature.

A spokesman for the Charterites—a city political party of liberal Republicans and Democrats—said the suit was based partly on a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision in Tennessee apportionment.

The suit asked for a speedy hearing by a three-judge court to be appointed by Judge Shackelford Miller Jr. of Louisville, chief judge of the Sixth Circuit Federal Appeals Court.

The group asked to have Ohio go back to the apportionment plan in the state constitution of 1851. This factor differs from similar suits filed in other districts which seek drafting of new formulas, the spokesman said.

The suit named as defendants the election boards of Adams, Brown, Clinton and Highland counties and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, State Auditor James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The suit attacked the Hanna Amendment as a violation of the U. S. Constitution. Under the amendment, each county has at least one representative in the Ohio House.

The Charterites also asked a temporary ban on election boards in the four counties from printing ballots listing candidates for the Ohio House, or from conducting elections for the Ohio House until apportionment changes are made.

New Hunting Rules For Ohio Revealed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Permission to shoot hen pheasants in the southern area of the state, a two-day gun season on deer and a reduced minimum acreage for leased quail lands are the highlights of the 1962-63 Ohio hunting and trapping regulations announced Thursday.

Other changes in past regulations included no closed season on skunks and the addition of two counties to the areas where beaver may be trapped.

All of these came out of the Ohio Wildlife Council's annual public hearing with representatives of farm and sportsmen groups held here Thursday.

Water fowl regulations will be set by the state and federal governments late in the summer. Any changes in the fishing laws will not be announced until later because the current season does not end until Feb. 28, 1963.

The 1962-63 regulations (all times are Eastern Standard):
SQUIRREL — Seasons open Sept. 14, closing Oct. 27 in the north and Nov. 10 in the south. Hunting hours: daylight to dark. Bag limit: four. Possession limit: after the first day, eight.

The line separating the two hunting areas begins in the east at East Liverpool, follows U. S. 30 to Canton, U. S. 62 to Millersburg, Ohio 39 to Mansfield, Ohio 13 to Somerset (Perry County), U. S. 22 to Ohio 159 in Fairfield County, Ohio 159 to U. S. 23 in Ross County, U. S. 23 to Chillicothe, U. S. 50 to Ohio 28, Ohio 28 to Midland, U. S. 68 to Ripley on the Ohio River.

RUFFED GROUSE — Oct. 15 Feb. 28. Hours: daylight to dark. Bag: three. Possession: six.

DEER — Shotgun loaded with rifled slug: Dec. 13-14 (Thursday and Friday). Archery: Oct. 15 Dec. 31. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during gun season and daylight to dark for archery except during gun season. Bag: one of either sex and any age. A new feature requires that all deer must be taken to a division of Wildlife operation checking station to be tagged by 10 p.m. on the last day of gun season or within 24 hours of being killed with a bow.

RINGED NECK PHEASANT PARTRIDGES & CHUKARS — Nov. 15 - Dec. 15 on private lands, through Jan. 31 on public lands. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Bags

two. Possession: four for each species.

A special ringed-neck season was established for the non-ringed necked area of the state — where the birds normally do not live or breed but must be stocked. In this area either cocks or hens may be taken from Nov. 15 through Jan. 31 with the same bag and possession limit as for the regular season.

The non-ringed neck pheasant area lies south of a line from Steubenville along — S. 22 to Zanesville, Ohio 75 to McArthur, U. S. 50 to Ohio 251, to Ohio 123; to Ohio 122, to Ohio 725, to the Indiana line.

New Hunting Rules For Ohio Revealed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Permission to shoot hen pheasants in the southern area of the state, a two-day gun season on deer and a reduced minimum acreage for leased quail lands are the highlights of the 1962-63 Ohio hunting and trapping regulations announced Thursday.

Other changes in past regulations included no closed season on skunks and the addition of two counties to the areas where beaver may be trapped.

All of these came out of the Ohio Wildlife Council's annual public hearing with representatives of farm and sportsmen groups held here Thursday.

Water fowl regulations will be set by the state and federal governments late in the summer. Any changes in the fishing laws will not be announced until later because the current season does not end until Feb. 28, 1963.

The 1962-63 regulations (all times are Eastern Standard):

SQUIRREL — Seasons open Sept. 14, closing Oct. 27 in the north and Nov. 10 in the south. Hunting hours: daylight to dark. Bag limit: four. Possession limit: after the first day, eight.

The line separating the two hunting areas begins in the east at East Liverpool, follows U. S. 30 to Canton, U. S. 62 to Millersburg, Ohio 39 to Mansfield, Ohio 13 to Somerset (Perry County), U. S. 22 to Ohio 159 in Fairfield County, Ohio 159 to U. S. 23 in Ross County, U. S. 23 to Chillicothe, U. S. 50 to Ohio 28; Ohio 28 to Midland, U. S. 68 to Ripley on the Ohio River.

RUFFED GROUSE — Oct. 15 to Feb. 23. Hours: daylight to dark. Bag: three. Possession: six.

DEER — Shotgun loaded with rifled slug: Dec. 13-14 (Thursday and Friday). Archery: Oct. 15 to Dec. 31. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during gun season and daylight to dark for archery except during gun season. Bag: one of either sex and any age. A new feature requires that all deer must be taken to a division of Wildlife operated checking station to be tagged by 10 p.m. on the last day of gun season or within 24 hours of being killed with a bow.

RINGED - NECK PHEASANT — Nov. 15 - Dec. 15 on private lands, through Jan. 31 on public lands. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Bags: two. Possession: four for each species.

A special ringed-neck season was established for the non-ringed necked area of the state — where the birds normally do not live or breed but must be stocked. In this area either cocks or hens may be taken from Nov. 15 through Jan. 31 with the same bag and possession limit as for the regular season.

The adult advisory panel questioned them extensively on all phases of Scouting and termed them completely qualified.

In addition to holding the 21 merit badges required as the first step in becoming an Eagle Scout Diehl has completed tests for eight additional badges, and Zehner for six.

Prior to becoming troop junior assistant scoutmaster, Diehl was assistant patrol leader and patrol leader.

EAGLE SCOUTS — Carl Zehner and William Diehl are two of only a few Pickaway County Boy Scouts to achieve this highest Scout-honor status. Zehner has 27 scout merit badges and Diehl has 29. Only 21 are required to become an Eagle Scout.

William Diehl, Carl Zehner Achieve Eagle Scout Status

William H. Diehl, and Carl Zehner 16, have been approved by a board of examiners for the highest rank attainable in the Boy Scout program—the Eagle Scout status.

Diehl, and Zehner appeared before the Pickaway District Eagle Scout board of review in Probate Court Judge Guy G. Cline's chambers recently.

Both boys are students in Circleville High School. Diehl will be a junior and Zehner a senior this year.

Their scouting records are nearly identical. Since they became First Class Scouts they have worked together and attained their advancements at the same times.

They were members of Cub Pack 170 and 205 and they are members of troop 170.

They were reviewed for two hours by C. W. Winner, district advancement chairman, and his eagle examining committee composed of Emerson Cline and Herman Petty, Ashville and Clark Hunsicker and Ray Hooks, Williamsport and Eugene Dowler, Circleville.

The adult advisory panel questioned them extensively on all phases of Scouting and termed them completely qualified.

In addition to holding the 21 merit badges required as the first step in becoming an Eagle Scout Diehl has completed tests for eight additional badges, and Zehner for six.

Prior to becoming troop junior assistant scoutmaster, Diehl was assistant patrol leader and patrol leader.

Diehl is also active in 4-H work being a member of the Walnut Wonder Workers for the past seven years and is the 1962 president of this organization. He is active in the DeMolay organization and is affiliated with the Order of the Arrow Camping Society at Camp Lazarus. He is also a member of the CHS band and wrestling team.

His hobby is coin collecting. He specializes in collecting pennies, nickels and dimes.

Zehner has been an assistant patrol leader, patrol leader and senior patrol leader.

He will be the president of the Hi-Y Club at the high school this year and he is a past chaplain of the organization. He is the treasurer of the Luther League and a member of the Order of the Arrow.

He is a member of the high school choir and is on the track and wrestling teams.

Methodist Church Will Offer Drive-In Worship Services

Circleville First Methodist Church will offer the community drive-in worship services on eight Sunday mornings starting July 8.

The Rev. Paul I. Wachs, pastor of First Methodist Church, announced the services will be held in the Starlight Cruise-in Theater each of the eight Sundays starting at 8:30 a. m. Duplicate worship services will be held in the church sanctuary, Main and Pickaway streets, at 10:45 a. m. Regular church school classes will convene in the church classrooms at 9:30 a. m.

Rev. Mr. Wachs said the drive-in service, sanctioned by the local church's official board, was part of the Ohio Methodist Conferences' "unconventional evangelism program".

Local church spokesmen said worshippers to the drive-in service will remain in their automobiles and listen to leaders through individual speakers available for each auto.

THE pulpit will be atop the drive-in theater's projection building. Special music will be provided for each service and one of the church's pianos will be trucked to the outdoor theater to accompany congregational singing.

As each worshiper enters the theater, he will be given a church bulletin which will carry not only the order of worship, but hymn lines as well.

Ushers will come to each auto to receive the morning offering. Non-Methodists attending the outdoor service have been assured that their offering will be delivered to the church of their choice.

Guest speakers will appear at some of the services. Two public school officials, who also have been booked for two of the services. Cecil Roebuck, one-time Circleville educator, who now is principal of Washington C. H. High School, will speak July 29. He recently returned from an extensive tour of the Soviet Union. On Aug. 5, Kenneth Waring, Baltimore educator and former district lay leader, will be guest speaker.

On July 22 and Aug. 26, coffee and doughnuts will be served at the drive-in theater following the worship hour. Arrangements for this unique worship service were made by Methodist officials with the cooperation of Russell Palm and Harley Bennett, operators of the theater.

Drive-in church services have been reported to be well-accepted in such communities as Lancaster, Xenia and Bowling Green.
